TAKE TRIAL OF SUIT AGAINST B. A. A. FROM JURY

Dr. Russell A. Richards, who is suing the governing committee of the B. A. A. for $20,000.

The $20,000 damage suit of Dr. Russell A. Richards against the governing committee of the Boston Athletic Association for expelling him from the association, was suddenly taken from the jury by Judge Jenney in the Plymouth Superior Court at Plymouth today.

Judge Jenney did this after six of the jurors said, in answer to the judge's query, that they had read reports of yesterday's trial proceedings, as printed in two of Boston's morning newspapers today.

Judge Jenney said that erroneous statements had been made and that, in justice and fairness, he had to take the case from the jury.

The erroneous report in the two Boston newspapers in question related to testimony of former President George B. Morrison of the B. A. A. in regard to a meeting of the governing committee.

Mr. Morrison was quoted in the two newspaper reports as having admitted on the witness stand that a circular containing the deliberations of this meeting had been printed in advance.

"It must have been," was the reply attributed to the witness. This report of the testimony was incorrect.

J. J. Feely and Thomas Hunt, counsel for the plaintiff and defendant, respectively, talked with Judge Jenney before court. When court opened Judge Jenney asked the jurors how many of them had read two Boston morning newspapers which the judge named.

Five jurymen had read one, one juryman the other. Judge Jenney then said:

"All right, I see six have read these papers. I do not wish to criticise you gentlemen, for you have done a perfectly natural thing; in fact, I should have done the same thing myself. But owing to the fact that certain statements have been made, some of them erroneous, it is impossible for me to allow the case to continue.

"Not that I think that it would have undue influence on you, but out of justice and fairness I must take the case from you, and you are accordingly discharged. It does not in the least reflect discredit upon you, gentlemen, but I regret exceedingly to say that the publication mentioned should have taken the course they have, and I shall see to it that proper action entirely clear of you, gentlemen, shall be immediately taken."

DISCHARGE JURY.

Judge Jenney then discharged the jurors and the case was continued without date.

Judge Jenney then called the reporters to the bench. In the presence of the court stenographer each reporter was allowed to make a statement, after being warned that what they said might be used against them.

Curley Finds a New Place for Henry B. Griffin

After being charged with kicking a nude bather while on the beach and publicly criticised by the judge who tried the case, Henry H. Griffin, superintendent of the L street bathhouse, today was appointed custodian of the new Municipal building at Ward 12 under Mayor Curley's approval, at a salary of $1,200 a year.

"Griffin may have been somewhat strict, but he has been in the park and recreation department a number of years and certainly maintained order while superintendent of the L street bathhouse," the Mayor asserted later.

"He will get the same salary, although transferred to the public buildings department, and I feel sure that he will give satisfaction in his new position."

Griffin is a resident of the Mayor's ward and is said to be an active member of the Tammany Club.

Mexicans Ask $2,000 Ransom for Fuller

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Mrs. E. P. Fuller, wife of the American ranch owner captured by bandits at Villa Ahumada, south of Juarez, today wired the State Department from El Paso that Medina, who was kidnaped at the same time, has been released to carry a demand for $2,000 gold for the release of Fuller. If the money is not forthcoming he is threatened with death. The State Department has sent another urgent demand to Villa to protect Fuller.

F. W. Boles Estate Set at $959,169

Frank W. Boles, who died in March at the Hotel Vendome, left an estate appraised at $959,169, according to an inventory filed in the probate office. Of that amount $806,659 is personal. He held stock in 98 corporations and 54 mortgage notes for $150,181.

Dunbar Leaves $200,000.

The late James H. Dunbar of Brookline was worth $200,000 in personal property and $100 in real estate, according to his will, allowed in Dedham.

Boston Hesitates on War Loan

GERMANY AGAIN YIELDS TO U. S.

WOULD TAP AMERICAN POCKETS

Boston banking circles are waiting for definite facts in regard to terms which representatives of the French and British governments are to offer American bankers and investors for war money borrowed in this country.

It is understood the Anglo-French commission, as Baron Reading and his colleagues are called, now wants to raise $500,000,000 in the United States.

As our banking laws provide that no national bank can loan more than 10 per cent of its capital and surplus to any one borrower, there is a question if the national, State and trust banks of the United States can handle any such loan alone, even if all were willing to participate.

COMPTROLLER'S RULINGS.

John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, upon the advice of counsel, however, has ruled that governments are not "corporations" or "persons" within the meaning of the law which prohibits banks from loaning more than one-tenth of capital and surplus combined to any person, corporation or firm.

The capital and surplus of all the national and State banks and trust companies in the country totals $5,243,000,000 approximately, it is stated, and 10 per cent of that amount is $524,300,000. It would be $156,700,000 less than the French and British, it is understood, have tentatively asked for.

It would appear from this that half a billion dollars is raised in the country to enable France, England and Russia to continue the war, a very large proportion of the sums must be subscribed by American men and women who are not in the banking business, but have saved money out of wages, professional, manufacturing, commercial and other incomes. In other words to place the war loan in America the public pocket must be tapped.

WOULD INTEREST AMERICANS.

It is said the British government is desirous of having as many American investors participate in the loan as possible in order to leave in this country a vast number of people who are financially interested in having at the British and their allies win the war.

Louis Allard to Return to Harvard

Louis Allard, member of the French department at Harvard College, sailed from Bordeaux, France, Tuesday for New York. He is to return to Harvard as an instructor in French. He gave up his duties at Harvard last year to serve wherever he could in France, where he was born. He took no part in the war, but was near the front most of the year. For a time he was interpreter in French military circles and with the Red Cross.

BRAVES - TIGERS MAY MEET IN BIG SERIES

In the event that neither the Braves or Tigers win the pennant in their respective leagues, it is more than likely that the two teams will clash in a post-season series at Braves Field. This much was admitted at Braves headquarters today, although no one there would admit that the Braves were out of the race as yet.

If the series is arranged it will be played here while the Red Sox are in Philadelphia, provided, of course, that the Lauhns and Phillies win the right to clash in the World's Series.

A mammoth scoreboard would be installed in centre field and the program of the World's Series games would be shown by innings.

Both the Braves and Tigers management are now considering such a series, and have looked upon it favorably.

The Tigers are a wonderful drawing card locally, and stacked up against the Braves would undoubtedly play to immense crowds. This would mean a big financial profit for both the clubs and players.

Woman Pushed Off Car and Injured

Mrs. Ellen F. Callan, sixty-five, of No. 38 Sheafe street, Maplewood, received a fracture of the left thigh today when she was pushed off a car by a woman at the Sullivan square station of the Elevated. She was taken to the Relief Hospital. It is claimed the woman who did the pushing was in a hurry to get off the car.

Man of 63 Held as a Pickpocket

Arthur W. Smith, 63 years old, was today held in $800 for the grand jury by Judge Sullivan in the Charlestown District Court, where he appeared, charged with picking the pocket of Victor Ginfrass of Lawrence in the Sullivan square terminal Sunday night. The police say Smith has a long record.

Engineer at Deer Island Is Ousted

Arthur F. Bowes, engineer at Deer Island House of Correction at a salary of $1,800 a year, was removed for alleged inefficiency by order of Penal Institution Commissioner David B. Shaw today.

LEAVE FRYE DAMAGE TO EXPERTS

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Germany today agreed that the Prussian treaty of 1828 shall be referred to The Hague tribunal for interpretation, in a new note dealing with the case of the American bark, William P. Frye, sunk by the German commerce destroyer Prinz Eitel Friedrich, the question of agreeing on the amount of damage is to be left to experts, one to be appointed by each nation. Germany selects as her expert Dr. Kepny of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company.

Germany says that it cannot agree that it must stop proceedings against American ships pending the proceedings before the tribunal and that she will not destroy any American merchantmen carrying contraband in the future, but will destroy any vessels falling into German hands which carry absolute contraband as named in the Declaration of London.

CONCESSIONS MADE.

Acting Secretary of State Polk said that he could not discuss nor say whether this government would accept the German proposals. However, it was pointed out that in agreeing that no more vessels carrying conditional contraband would be sunk, Germany makes a material concession inasmuch as she agrees in effect that the sinking of the Frye laden with conditional contraband was illegal.

The text of the note was as follows: With regard first to ascertain of the damage by experts the German government believes that it should dispense with the nomination of an umpire.

In the past, experts named, one by each side, have always reached an agreement and should it not be possible in this case to reach an agreement, the dispute could be settled by diplomatic negotiations. Assuming that the American government agrees to this the German government names as its expert, Dr. Kepny of Bremen, director of the North German Lloyds and begs to await the designation of the American expert.

AGREES TO PROPOSAL.

The German government agrees to the proposal of the American government to separate the question of indemnity from the question of the interpretation of the Prussian treaties of 1799 and 1828.

British and Swedish Steamers Are Sunk

By International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Swedish steamer Forvik, 1,107 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was saved. The ship was carrying a cargo of coal through the war zone. The British steamer Greenlagen, 988 tons, has been blown up either by a mine or a submarine torpedo. One member of the crew was lost and several wounded. The survivors were landed today.

Wife of Dr. Carrel Gets Decoration

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The wife of Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute of New York was decorated by the French War Office today for her bravery in nursing wounded soldiers under artillery fire in Compiegne recently.

U. S. Consulate Hit in Air Raid on Stuttgart

By International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The greatest aeroplane fleet ever assembled for an attack, reported to number more than sixty-five machines, took part in the great raid against Stuttgart, it was learned here today.

The palace of the King of Wurtemberg was damaged and more than 200 shells were dropped on railway towns in Wurtemberg and the Grand Duchy of Baden.

The American consulate at Stuttgart was hit by fragments of a bomb. Some damage was caused, but no American was injured.

Among the towns attacked were Hechdorf, Garringen, Neufra, Tubingen and Freiburg.

Frost in Parts of New England

Reports of heavy frosts were received today from Concord, N. H., and Northfield, Vt. Light frosts are reported in Eastport, Me., and Burlington, Vt., and in the lower lake region. The temperature at 8 a. m. at Northfield Vt., was 42. The lowest temperature reported from a government station, at East Wareham, was 22, at the level of the bogs, and there was a difference of 12 degrees between the ground level and where the station is located, the temperature of the station at Wareham being 35. In Plymouth County the temperature took a sudden drop.

Starving Man Drops in Street

Thomas Brown, thirty-nine years, who said he lived at No. 1023 Washington street, South End, fell at Broadway Extension and Washington street today from exhaustion, brought on by starvation. He told the police a pitiable story of how he was too proud to beg and of walking the streets in search of employment to provide himself with food and shelter. He was taken to the City Hospital.

BULGARIA CALLS OUT ALL HER TROOPS

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Events in the Balkans, which appear to be moving rapidly toward a clash of arms, continued to attract the attention of war experts today.

News from Sofia that by royal decree twenty-seven classes of the Bulgarian army has today been ordered mobilized was regarded as gravely important, as these classes comprise all the forces of Bulgaria, whose total war strength is estimated at half a million men.

Of scarcely less importance is the news telegraphed from Petrograd, that M. Savinsky, the Russian minister to Bulgaria, has been summoned home. While this may not immediately presage a break between Russia and Bulgaria, it is regarded as ominous.

Sofia reports that the Bulgarian War Office has assumed supervision of all supply sources in the kingdom, and materials of every description necessary for the army are being requisitioned.

Enthusiasm is reported as running high and the troops marching through the capital are cheered by the populace.

Important dispatches are being exchanged between Sofia and the Bulgarian legations at Athens and Bucharest. King Ferdinand, it is stated, expects to leave Sofia for army headquarters on Saturday.

BILLION DOLLAR LOAN TO ALLIES HAZARDOUS UNLESS IT IS SECURED

Boersianer, Noted Financial Expert, Says Borrowers Will Not Be Able to Meet Obligations---U. S. Asked to Do What French and British Investors Refuse to Do

September 21.

My Dear Mr. Hearst:

I had resolved to forget finance during my vacation, but the interview with you in the New Orleans Item impels me to break the resolution. Permit me, who am a specialist on the subject, to say that your views on the proposed Anglo-French loan are absolutely sound and logical. I speak, of course, only of the purely fiscal aspect of the matter, irrespective of its humanitarian and diplomatic phases.

The loan is hazardous because it is unsecured. It is unsecured because the situation abroad is come to a pass where British and French holders of American securities decline to exchange such values for the notes or bonds of their governments. American investors are therefore asked to do what Frenchmen and Britishers refuse to do.

The I O U's of France and Great Britain have become unsafe. Financially France is exhausted and Great Britain almost so. Although Asquith last week was voted $1,250,000,000 by the House of Commons, the last flotation by McKenna showed that Great Britain's credit had been strained. Taking the conversion terms and other inducements to the $5,000,000,000 loans, the money cost the exchequer quite 6 per cent.

LAST LOAN LIMPED BADLY.

Graver than that, the later reception of the loan was ominously hesitant. Yet, notwithstanding this, Great Britain is compelled to try the home market once more. The condition must be decidedly necessitous, if not desperate, when a government is forced to ask for another grant on the heels of a borrowing that at the end was limping.

But the vital point—financially speaking—will be the manifest disability of the borrowers to meet their obligations. Great Britain has financed Serbia and Montenegro, partly financed Russia, lent $100,000,000 to Japan and advanced $600,000,000 to Italy in the month preceding the latter's war declaration. From now on she must furnish the monetary needs of all the allies save France, and part at least of France's. At the outset Montenegro's chest was empty, Serbia declared a moratorium two years ago, which still is in force.

Russia is as demoralised financially as she is martially. She tried two internal loans, the last more or less forced. Both were failures.

FRANCE'S FINANCIAL WEAKNESS

Italy's treasury was completely disordered as far back as the end of her war on Turkey, and one of the surprises of the world-war has been the disclosure of France's financial weakness. Frenchmen own over $3,000,000,000 of Russian government bonds, and almost double that amount of stocks and bonds of Russian corporation enterprises. The latter, as a rule, have ceased paying dividends and interest.

Away from my files, I have not the exact figures, but in a memory estimate, I should say that England has already been granted $8,000,000,000 for war purposes, or double the sum of the national debt prior to August, 1914. This does not include the loans put out by her colonies. Canada, for one, has raised approximately $100,000,000.

The longer the war lasts the more certain will be the inability of the warring nations to pay. I omit comment on the standing of the allies, since it is not seeking the monetary aid here. Ultimately there must be a scaling down of the principal to meet the interest. In other words, there is every likelihood of partial repudiation.

WILL TO HUSBAND RESOURCES.

If the allies should lose and Germany impose a cash indemnity, downright disaster were inevitable. Simply put, to put American money—American depositors' funds — into an essentially destructive proposition—proposed by an already overstrained debtor — was in the highest degree risky, though the war were favoring us as it were coming to a speedy termination. But as it is, the alliance is in the saddle, and the end of the conflict is in the inviable perspective.

There is another important side to this question. In a general way Europe has heretofore financed America. Practically all our leading enterprises were floated abroad. Until quite recently the ownership of most of our railways, for example, was lodged in Europe. Even were the war to end tomorrow, Europe could not for a long time participate in furthering our developments.

Henceforth we shall be limited to our own financial resources. It were therefore well to husband these resources and not throw them into the European inferno. Every dollar will be doubly useful to us after Europe will have ceased destroying her lives and property.

"WILL IT SERVE HUMANITY?"

Although my forte is finance, I cannot resist a moral observation. The keynote of President Wilson's note to Germany on the torpedoing of the Lusitania was humanity. Will it serve humanity to put from $500,000,000 to $700,000,000 of American money in the allies' pockets that they may prolong the slaughter?

Again, suppose Holland (which, though small, is so wealthy that she owns $1,000,000,000 of American securities) should make a loan of $500,000,000 to Great Britain and France? Would the Alliance consider that neutral? What, in international relations, is the difference between Holland and the United States?

Again, if the loan be made here, is there any doubt that the Federal banks will be asked to handle the notes—floated by them—the currency against them—indorsed as they would be by Wilson or the other of syndicate houses?

With the government banks accepting the notes of the allies, will the United States Government be neutral?

Finally—In the first month of the war Mr. Lloyd-George confidently and exultantly stated that last $500,000,000 would decide this murderous issue. Is America prepared to assume the responsibility of providing the decisive $500,000,000? Will Americans realize the sinister partiality of subscribing to a loan—or loans—that may tip the bloody scales?

E. FRIEND.

Faithfully yours,

(Boerslaner).

Mr. William Randolph Hearst, New York American.

[Mr. Friend, who writes under the name of Boerslaner, was formerly financial expert of the Chicago Daily News. He is now financial expert for the Chicago Examiner, and is regarded as one of the leading authorities on finance in the United States.—News Editor.]

FORD AGAINST THE LOAN, FIRST, LAST AND ALWAYS

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—"The foreign loan now being negotiated never should go through," said Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer and advocate of peace, at the Hotel Biltmore. "There is no reason in the world why we should permit good American money to go abroad for the purpose of continuing the terrible war. It only means there will be many more people killed.

"I have read the strong protest of W. R. Hearst against the loan, and I am very glad he has given his views to the public through his publications.

"There is no consistency in praying with one hand to have this terrible carnage come to an end and then give out with the other hand money to keep up the killing of thousands by the thousands.

"I am against the loan first, last and all the time. I have considerable money on deposit in various banks throughout the country, but would not want to think that any of my money was being used for the purpose of continuing the war, and any bank that did loan my money would be sure to lose at least one depositor.

"During the Winter we will use $20,000,000 or $30,000,000 for material. I want no paper or promises to pay our daily cash payrolls. This money will come from our deposits in the bank and should remain there until it is needed to develop American industries, and not sent abroad to pay for munitions to make a few great American manufacturers rich by the sale of instruments of war."

John J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Committee on appropriations of the House of Representatives, commenting on the budget statement of Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain, pointed out the fact that the financial power of England will be forced to bear because of the war.

He left it to the good sense of American investors to determine whether banks here shall be permitted to lend their money to nations confronted with bankruptcy and refoundation of debts because of the refusal of the people of those countries to pay the rapidly multiplying interest charges and the enormous budget expenses they will have to meet when the war is over.

Mr. Fitzgerald said in part as follows:

"The proposed budget submitted by Mr. McKenna, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the House of Commons almost staggers credulity. It is difficult to comprehend the enormity of the contemplated outlay, and the resulting burdens to the people of Great Britain must occasion serious alarm to the officials charged with responsibility for the nation's finances.

"The Chancellor explained that the expenditures will aggregate $7,950,000,000, while the revenues for the current year will be $1,360,000,000. Additional taxes will increase the revenues to $2,000,000,000.

"The proposed expenditure is approximately $6,000,000,000 in excess of the normal outlay before the war. The anticipated revenues are about two and one-half times the revenues of the same period, and more than 50 per cent. in excess of the current revenues. Despite such increase there will be a deficit for the year of $5,000,000,000."

WARNING ON LOAN ISSUED BY BRYAN

Washington, September 22. . .

BY FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

It is not wise for our peopel to gamble on the European war by buying risks on either side.

Aside from the decrease of money from the ordinary channels, it gives to the purchasers of bonds of belligerent countries a pecuniary interest in the result of the war, which tends to make more difficult that attitude of neutrality which the President has asked the country to observe.

BOSTON BANKS HOLD BACK ON WAR LOAN

One statement regarding the foreign loan is that it may be offered in lots as small as $100.

Small investors, however, give close attention to safety when risking what they have accumulated from wages or little incomes.

Until recently it was understood that the French and British only sought a loan here to buy in this country food, clothing and other supplies which would not be used for killing their enemies. Now, it is said, on authority of a member of the Anglo-French commission, that the foreign governments will reserve the right to spend the money for war munitions if they so elect.

This is contrary to the advice of James J. Hill, who is more highly regarded in the West than any other railroad man alive.

It is estimated that this country's wheat surplus this Fall will total 400,000,000 bushels. Mr. Hill is interested in finding American farmers a good market for it, and he said in regard to the war loan:

"I believe we should give Europe credit for export commodities purchased in this country, because it is mutually advantageous and is essential to the exportation of our crops.

"But I am not in favor of including in the loan credit for the purchase of powder, shot and shells. Other arrangements should be made for these things. My concern is the interest of American men, not the interest of either side engaged in the war."

Boston bankers silently are considering what they have heard, and they are waiting for the announcement of what the French and British envoys are to ask for, and what they are to offer in return.

Some bankers in Chicago, who represent the West, a section which no longer has to get on its knees to Wall Street when it wants money, are not reticent.

The Boston News Bureau printed a despatch from Chicago, stating that a leading daily there published in the first column on its front page an article as to how the feelings of Western bankers had been ruffled by the alleged arbitrary action of J. P. Morgan & Co. The despatch reads:

"J. P. Morgan's secretary issued a statement saying Mr. Forgan will return direct from Washington, where he is attending advisory council meeting of the Federal Reserve Board. It is said that Mr. Forgan's bank, the First National, will consider the loan in the light of a purely business proposition, and in accordance with accepted banking principles; but as far as New York is concerned, he is through.

"George M. Reynolds, last week, by his own efforts, managed to get one one member of the foreign commission for a brief conversation, but did not attend any formal conference, and is coming back disgusted. Mr. Forgan, the News says, is tired of dangling outside of young Mr. Morgan's door."

DEADLOCK NEAR ON BIG LOAN TO ALLIES

By FRANK CHARLTON.
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Opposition to the proposed war loan to the allies has crystallized to such an extent that negotiations may be opened along different lines.

That the difficulties confronting the Anglo-French credit commissioners have heightened within the past twenty-four hours and that a deadlock is threatened was evident today.

The three chief obstacles were the following:

1—The unfavorable financial position of the British government as revealed in the budget speech of Reginald McKenna, British Chancellor of the Exchequer.

2—Opposition to Russia's participation in the proposed loan.

3—The attitude of Western interests that have been antagonized by the seizure of $15,000,000 worth of meat cargoes owned by American packers by England.

A hesitant attitude is now being shown in quarters that were originally favorable toward the loan, and J. P. Morgan & Co. have set out to overcome this lukewarmness. This activity on the part of the Morgan group is another cause for opposition to the loan on the part of interior bankers, it was learned today.

CRISIS REACHED.

Financial interests in the Middle West and West whose relations are close to the investors whose money they are using fear the bugaboo of "Wall Street domination."

One New York financial writer, in reviewing the loan situation today, stated that "a crisis has been reached."

Lengthy cables in code are passing between the Anglo-French commissioners and their governments in London and Paris showing that the course of the negotiations are not running smoothly.

Another feature of the situation which has just come to the front is the realization of the commissioners that more time must be taken to float the loan, if they are successful in doing so, than they anticipated. They have been informed that it would probably take months to raise from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 and keep the money market normal.

They are being informed that the American people must be educated to the situation if the loan is to be popular in the United States.

SEEK HIGHER RATE.

It is learned that one group of the American bankers interested is holding out for a higher rate of interest for the investors, demanding that a price of 97½ be allowed the buyers of the notes or bonds, thus yielding a profit of slightly more than 5¼ per cent.

U. S. Senator J. H. Bankhead of Alabama who is in New York, said that the Southern bankers are much interested in the loan and would probably subscribe to it in order to help Southerners dispose of their cotton and other products to the allied countries.

7 on Trial in New York for Murder

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—For the first time in the history of New York seven men today were put on trial at one time on charges of first degree murder. The defendants, Max Sigman, Morris Shapiro, Solomon Metz, Julius Wolff, Max Singer, Isidore Austin and Abraham Weldinger, are members of the Cloak and Suit Makers' Union, and are accused of beating to death Abraham Liebovitz, a "scab" during the 1910 strike.

GERMANS HERE PROTEST BIG WAR LOAN

The Massachusetts State Branch of the National German-American Alliance has protested against the proposed allied loan in America, appealing to President Wilson in a telegram signed by Professor John A. Walz of No. 42 Garden street, Cambridge, chairman.

Other officers of the Massachusetts Alliance are: Edward Ruhl, No. 28 Hawley street; Robert Sturm, No. 63 Spring Park avenue, Jamaica Plain; H. Jloefer, No. 372 Huntington avenue, Hyde Park; Christian Eberhard, R. A. A. Zeuner and Prof. F. A. Mechlehelt, No. 32 India street; M. O. von Klock, No. 142 Fresnel street, Cambridge.

TEXT OF APPEAL.

The appeal to President Wilson follows:

The governments of Great Britain and France have sent a commission to our country to negotiate a very large loan to help finance their war. The commissioners offer as only security the bonds of their governments. These governments, in the opinion of many authorities, are approaching bankruptcy. If they were able to pay, they would not be here trying to borrow without offering collateral.

We are told by the press that the bonds are to be a first mortgage on Great Britain and France. But what court has the power to foreclose this mortgage and collect the principal?

The city of New York and our great railroads have had to postpone needed improvements, being unable to secure funds. Yet the representatives of the allies seem to have assurances they will get this loan. Do not the city of New York and our railroads offer a safer investment than these warring countries, with an estimated war expense of $1,140,000,000 a month? Is the economic development of our own country to be sacrificed to the necessities of wars of foreign nations?

RESTRAINT ON TRADE.

Our export business at present is largely of a kind to feed this war. We are neglecting normal business by taking war orders and by building up a war industry which sooner or later must cease and we are losing legitimate trade with neutral nations through Great Britain's interference. Some $30,000,000 worth of meat products have been recently confiscated; goods to the value of many millions of dollars are held up at Rotterdam, though belonging to American merchants and bought and paid for over six months ago. We are not allowed to sell cotton to some of our best customers or woolen manufactured to them in America.

If we subtract from our total exports the war supplies, our normal trade has greatly fallen off, compared with former years. Our national income has been badly crippled by the deficit in custom revenues as shown by the report of the Department of Commerce. We have been obliged to levy a special war tax of $100,000,000, which matures on December 31 and which must be renewed, presumably on a larger scale.

And we are now asked to become participants in this economic crime against our own country by lending money for its continuation.

LOAN MENACE TO PEACE.

Were we to act with proper regard to our true interests, we would insist on our right to trade with any and every neutral country in non-contraband merchandise, thus going that we would also write into international law the rights of neutrals against the rights of belligerents, and would have the moral support of every neutral nation.

The proposed loan is a menace to the peace, the welfare and the financial stability of our country. The most entangling alliance is a financial alliance.

Mr. President, it is in your power today to place our country at the head of the moral forces of the world and to take us out of the false position in which we find ourselves, for, while we claim to be actuated solely by the interest of humanity, we are really keeping up the destruction of life and property to enrich a few large financial organizations.

In conclusion we respectfully refer to a passage from the Democratic Text Book issued for the Congressional elections of 1914, as follows:

"The announcement made by this government, that it regards the making of loans by American citizens to the governments of nations engaged in war as inconsistent with the spirit of neutrality, has created a profound impression throughout the world. It is the first time a great nation has taken this stand on the subject of war loans. The matter has been discussed at The Hague and at peace conferences, but it encountered so much opposition that nothing tangible has resulted. The President, therefore, blazes a new way, when, without conference with other nations and without support from conventions, he commits this nation to this policy.

"It is inconsistent with the spirit of neutrality for a neutral nation to make loans to belligerent nations, for money is the worst of contraband."

'MYSTERY MAN' PUZZLE IS SOLVED

The Mystery Man, known to the Psychopathic Hospital authorities as "Harry L.," who has puzzled the doctors of that institution for over a week, and who claimed to be a German agent, today told the officials that he was a prominent Philadelphian, with large business interests both there and in Boston.

One of the hospital authorities stated today:

"The mystery of the so-called German agent has been cleared up. The man gave us his name and address today.

"He is well known here and in Philadelphia, his home. He is much improved and will probably be released soon."

EVERETT BOY IS KILLED BY AUTO

While playing on his way home from the Mount Washington School in Everett, Guido Della Piano, six, of No. 82 Ferry street, Everett, was struck by an automobile and died at the Whidden Memorial Hospital.

Another boy started to chase the Piano boy, who dodged into the street on Irving street, near the corner of Union.

Just as he jumped from the sidewalk an automobile driven by John F. Roberts of No. 131 Harvard street, Everett, came along. The driver failed to see the boy, so suddenly did he dodge into the street.

He was hit by the automobile and thrown down.

Mrs. Pinchot Robbed of $5000 Worth of Jewels

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot has been robbed of jewelry valued at $5,000. The stolen property consisted of a diamond lavaliere and a pair of pearl earrings. They are believed to have been taken by a former maid in Mrs. Pinchot's employ.

During her stay at Newport this Summer Mrs. Pinchot missed some of her wearing apparel. It was found in the maid's trunk, but Mrs. Pinchot forgave the culprit. After returning to New York other offences were discovered and the maid was discharged. Shortly afterward it was found that jewelry valued at $5,000 was missing.

MRS. COWLES TO LIVE NEAR CHILDREN

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 23.—Mrs. Florence J. Cowles of Brookline will arrive today and make her residence here for six months, so that she may be near her two daughters while they are with their father, Dr. Edward S. Cowles, from whom she recently obtained a divorce.

By order of the court she is a joint guardian of the children, may see them as often as she wishes and may have them with her one day each week. She may also take part in directing their care.

7 EAST BOSTON CLAM DIGGERS ARE FINED

The crusade against clam diggers on the East Boston flats being carried on by the Fish and Game Commission resulted in nine men appearing in the East Boston court today, six of whom were fined $50, one $5, and two cases continued.

The men fined $50 were: Alfred Fraser, Anthony Rose, Joseph and John Bargus of East Boston, and Bartley Foley and Thomas Flaherty of Chelsea. All appealed. Melvin Malmson of East Boston paid a $5 fine.

Foss in Court But the Case Is Again Put Over

Former Governor Foss appeared before Judge Burke in the Municipal Court today to answer to a charge of criminal libel brought against him by Dennis D. Driscoll, a labor leader. The reading of the complaint was waived.

By agreement of counsel for both sides the case was continued till September 30.

Foss and his counsel, Melvin M. Johnson, on arriving at court, conferred with the court for five minutes or more.

Following the conference, Foss and Johnson walked from the courtroom arm in arm. Foss had a smile on his face.

$40,000 SPENT IN VAIN BY THE GRAND TRUNK

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 23.—More than $40,000 was spent by the Grand Trunk Railroad and its subsidiary, the Southern New England Railroad, in an unsuccessful attempt to get permission to cross New Hampshire with a line which would connect the Grand Trunk with the port of Boston, according to statements filed by those railroads with the Public Service Commission, which is investigating the expenditures since January 1, 1911, of all railroads in the State for the purpose of influencing legislative and public opinion.

The statements, read at today's hearing, showed that $29,668, of which $25,808 came from the Grand Trunk and the rest from the Southern New England, was paid to the law firm of Remick & Jackson, Concord, N. H., and to Judge Jesse M. Barton of Newport, N. H., who handled the Grand Trunk campaign in New Hampshire.

Other amounts, totalling $4,116.17 were paid to former Congressman Eugene E. Reed of Manchester, N. H., former Mayor William H. Berry and Henri Lebeux, both of Nashua; William J. Britton of Wolfboro and Judge W. D. H. Hill of Conway.

Robert Jackson of the firm of Remick & Jackson was the only witness today. He testified that he and Judge Remick first handled the Grand Trunk campaign, but later called on Judge Barton.

Letters from the Grand Trunk outlining the road's policy in New Hampshire were introduced. In one Vice-President Hughes wrote:

"We do not desire a big array of counsel in the State, nor do we desire to purchase publicity. We are in the position of being invited to connect with the port of Boston and not in the position of invaders. We don't want to go into any publicity campaign for fear the people will think we are invaders."

"This policy," said Mr. Jackson, "was strictly adhered to by us."

ROCKEFELLER TALKS WITH MINERS

By International News Service.

TRINIDAD, Col., Sept. 23.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today continued his investigation of coal mining properties of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. Up again with the sun, the members of the party had breakfast and then entered their automobile and started northward, where a dozen camps are located.

The party expected to reach Walsenburg, in Huerfano County.

Mr. Rockefeller today took groups of miners off by themselves and plied them with questions.

"Now, boys, you tell me just what the trouble is," was generally his first request, and little by little the men told him what was next to their hearts. The company officials have no these spared in these complaints. One of the comments made most frequently by Mr. Rockefeller to the men has been:

"I will investigate this matter myself and I hope to be fair to you."

Princess Theatre at Montreal Burns

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—Fire wrecked the Princess Theatre today, with a loss estimated at $200,000. Several firemen were injured in fighting the flames, which broke out after two explosions. Phillis Neilson Terry has been appearing at the playhouse in "Trilby" this week.

Arms Experts Are to View Knowles Bullet

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 23.—Inspector McGann of Police Headquarters is on his way to Bridgeport and New Haven with the bullet which killed Judge W. S. Knowles on Labor Day. He will ask the arms experts of those cities to try to determine whether or not the bullet is a revolver or rifle slug.

Dartmouth Opens with Record Classes

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 23.—The one hundred and forty-sixth year of Dartmouth College opened with the largest enrollment in its history. The registration figures are not yet complete, but administration officials predict a total of over 1,300 men, of whom 460 are freshmen.

Husband Amazed at Dead Woman's Riches

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The body of Mrs. Annie Masden-Vaughn Watson, wife of Henry W. Watson, Congressman from the Eighth Pennsylvania District, and president of the Washington, Potomac and Chesapeake Railroad, will be sent to her former home in Lanahorne, Pa., today. Mrs. Watson, while on a shopping trip with her husband, collapsed on a surface car and died of heart disease.

In her clothing was a chamois bag containing money and jewelry totalling $72,000.

Mr. Watson was as much amazed as the police at the wealth his wife was carrying. He said that Mrs. Watson had had her own bank account and had conducted her own financial affairs but he had not supposed she had more than $1,000 or $1,200.

Canine Hero Loses Medal for Bravery

BROCKTON, Sept. 23.—Superintendent James Failes of the Salvation Army Industrial Home is looking for the person who stole the medal worn by Pergy, the mongrel dog which saved fourteen men when fire broke out in the home several months ago.

The medal was presented by the Brockton Humane Society at a public reception for Pergy. Superintendent Failes says the medal was so securely fastened to the collar that it could not drop off.

U. S. Uniform Laws Section Meets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The United States section of the International Joint Commission on Uniform Laws, created by the recent Pan-American financial conference, met here today and took up the work of organization and preparations for the meeting of the commission at Buenos Ayres in November. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is chairman of the American section. Other members present were Samuel Untermyer of New York, John Bassett Moore, John H. Fahey of Boston and Senator Fletcher of Florida.

Disarming Rebel Cacos in Haiti

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—American marines have begun the disarmament of the rebellious Cacos in Haiti. Admiral Caperton today cabled the Navy Department that the situation was serious, and that unless all of these rebels were disarmed it would be impossible for the Americans to retain control.

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble, that is absolutely unequalled. Get from your druggist 1½ oz. of Parmint (Double Strength) and add to it ½ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils will open, air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, hard cold or catarrh in any form should use this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

BROCKTON SHOE FACTORIES GUARDED

BROCKTON, Sept. 23.—Shoe factories where army shoes are being made to fill European war orders were guarded by the police today, following the discovery and unsuccessful pursuit of a night prowler in the rear of one of these plants.

This prowler was surprised by Patrolman A. C. Atwood at 2 a. m. in the rear of the Field factory. The man ran when discovered.

26 INDICTMENTS BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Five secret indictments, said to relate to unusually big cases, were reported by the Federal Grand Jury for September to Judge Morton in the United States District Court today.

Twenty-one indictments in addition, involving thirty defendants, and three "no" bills were reported.

The Peabody Interstate Express Company was indicted on a charge of violating the Interstate Commerce law by delivering liquor in Norwood as agent for the Providence Brewing Company.

Two groups of indictments were returned in cases of alleged opium violations.

Two Chinamen and two members of the crew of the Leyland liner Canadian a recharged with conspiracy to smuggle opium into this country.

George Young, a New York Chinaman, and Evan Edwards of the crew of the steamer Kish are charged with unlawfully importing opium.

Holger Anderson was indicted on a charge of defacing the tower of the Boston Custom House by scratching his name on a railing. "No" bills were returned in the cases of Harry Johnson and Leon H. Flint, charged with defacing the same tower.

M'SWEENEY ON PLANS FOR PORT DEVELOPMENT

Chairman Edward F. McSweeney, of the Port Directors, appeared before the Boston Terminal Commission at the State House today to outline the views of his board with reference to improvement of terminal and transportation facilities in Boston and vicinity.

The monopoly of Boston's water front by the New Haven, Boston & Maine, and Boston & Albany has worked to the disadvantage of both the public and the railroads, he said.

"The Port Directors have agreed that the Union Freight Railroad should be electrified and extended over the Northern avenue bridge to make a direct connection with the South Boston waterfront and the yards of the New Haven," said Mr. McSweeney.

"Politics is the greatest of all obstacles to proper port development," he added.

In reply to a question he said that Atlantic avenue is capable of extensive development for coastwise and local business, but is not suitable for the handling of over-sea business. This should be taken care of at East Boston and South, he said.

Arlington to Have 2 Suffrage Meetings

The Arlington Equal Suffrage League will hold two open air rallies tomorrow night, with Margaret Foley as the chief speaker. This form of rally has been a feature of the Arlington branch and has met with great success. The meetings will be in front of the Old Town Hall and at the corner of Lake street and Massachusetts avenue.

BERLIN WOULD REFER TREATY TO HAGUE

It therefore again expressly states that it does not acknowledge the violation of the treaty as contended by the American side, but it does admit that the question of indemnity does not prejudice the arrangement of the differences of opinion concerning the true interpretation of the treaty rights and that this dispute is left to be decided by The Hague Tribunal of arbitration.

The note then suggests that the plans for submitting the question at issue be settled between Ambassador Gerard and the German Foreign Office, owing to the difficulty of communicating between Washington and Berlin.

It declares that in its opinion from the standpoint of law and equity it is not prevented, in its opinion, from proceedings against American ships carrying contraband pending settlement of the points in dispute.

EXPLAIN ATTITUDE.

The reason assigned is that while the American interpretation would materially impede Germany in her conduct of warfare hardly any particular disadvantage to American citizens would result from the German interpretation. The note then concludes:

Nevertheless, the German government, order to furnish to the American government, evidence of its conciliatory attitude has issued orders to the German naval forces not to destroy American merchantmen which have loaded conditional contraband even when the conditions of International law are present, but to permit them to continue their voyage unhindered if it is not possible to take them into port.

On the other hand it must reserve to itself the right to destroy vessels carrying absolute contraband wherever such destruction is permissable, according to the decision of London.

HESPERIAN HIT BRITISH MINE, GERMANS CLAIM

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, today received from his government an important statement concerning the sinking of the Allan liner Hesperian. It confirms the recent exclusive statement given to the International News Service at Berlin.

"The memorandum," said Count von Bernstorff, "is a note from the German admiralty, submitted to the Imperial government and stating that after an investigation it has been determined that no German submarine could have sunk the Hesperian and that the vessel was probably sunk by a British mine, intended to destroy Germany's under-watercraft.

"This has been the German contention since the very beginning. "I believe that a number of vessels which are supposed to have been sunk by German submarines have really been destroyed through striking British mines."

RUSSIAN TRADE AGREEMEN BIG VICTORY FOR THE U. S.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The United States has won its first big commercial victory through diplomatic means. As a result millions of dollars worth of Russian goods heretofore held in Russia under the terms of the Russian embargo, but most of which already have been paid for by American importers, will be permitted to come through to the United States at once.

Probably for the first time in the history of this country the government is made responsible for the ultimate destination of these goods and is pledged to see that they do not get into the hands of Russia's armies.

They will come here consigned to Secretary of Commerce Redfield, and he will see that they are consumed within this country.

300 MORE JOIN WORCESTER STRIKE

WORCESTER, Sept. 23.—Three hundred machinists of the Whitcomb-Blaisdell shops here will walk out to join the 800 men already on strike from the Reed-Prentice plant.

All negotiations for a compromise failed. The men demand an eight-hour day with an increase of 5 cents an hour in pay.

Bernstorff Is Allowed to Send Cable in Code

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—It was disclosed today that Count von Bernstorff has been permitted to cable a statement in German code to his government on his recent conference with Secretary Lansing. This was done as a courtesy and especial mark of confidence in the ambassador.

It could only be sent with the consent of the allies, who control the European end of the cable.

SEEK AUTOIST WHO KILLED BOY

WORCESTER, Sept. 23.—The police are hunting for the autoist whose car struck and killed Richard McCarthy of No. 1083 Grafton street and fled without lending any assistance. McCarthy was struck early today while returning home from work. He died in the hospital an hour later.

BULGARIA MAY ENTER WAR IN 48 HOURS

over the action of Bulgaria as a probable ally of Germany, Austria and Turkey, war experts here and in Paris maintain that it can in no way change the ultimate result of the war, although it may delay it.

The entire northern frontier of Serbia is under bombardment by the Austro-Germans. The principal fire of the artillery is being directed against the Serb positions along the Macva border in the northwest.

This was officially announced in a statement reaching here from Vienna.

An Athens dispatch says Bulgaria may declare war within forty-eight hours.

Bulgaria is preparing to attack Serbia the moment Austro-German troops cross the Serbian frontier, according to information from reliable Balkan sources.

Four divisions, comprising more than 160,000 Bulgarian troops are being massed on the Serbian frontier.

AID FOR TURKEY.

A quick dash through Serbia, a clear passage through Bulgaria, relief of the Turks at Gallipoli, and a campaign against Egypt and the Suez Canal are said to be the plan of Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria.

The greatest activity prevails among representatives of the Entente powers at Athens. Continual conferences are being held between officials of the government and representatives of England, France, Russia and Italy.

In this connection reports come today from correspondents in Rome that new proposals have been made to the Sofia government by the Entente powers. They add that King Ferdinand has called his ministers into conference to discuss the latest proffers of the allies.

Greece is bound by treaty to assist Servia if Bulgaria assails the Serbs, but the present war has taught diplomats that treaties are not always observed. They admit that reports of the mobilization of the Greek army do not necessarily mean that Greece will strike Bulgaria, this measure possibly being taken to preserve "armed neutrality," a phrase of which the Bulgarian diplomats are making extensive use.

BRITISH GUNNERS IN CHARGE.

A statement from Nish denies a rumor that Germany advised Serbia that the attack which the central powers are starting was designed not to crush Serbia, but for "high political reasons" and advising the Serbians to make no attempt to halt the passage of the Teuton troops.

It is known that British gunners are now in charge of the Serbian artillery and that French aviators have reinforced the flying corps. Large amounts of supplies of all kinds have reached Serbia and it is stated she is well prepared to resist an attack.

In addition to the Bulgarian regulars more than 45,000 Bulgarians in Macedonia and Thrace have answered the call to the colors.

While it is hinted at the Foreign Office in London that England has not yet given up hope of appeasing Bulgaria, it has been made known officially in Sofia that the Bulgarian government will take over the territory along the Dedeagatch Railway ceded by Turkey on October 6 and that the official transfer will take place on October 11. The Entente allies have warned Bulgaria that occupation of this territory would be viewed as a hostile act.

FRENCH EXPERTS SAY BULGARIA CAN ONLY PROLONG WAR

By International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—That Bulgaria's participation in the war on the side of the Central Powers will prolong the war is the belief in Paris, but French experts asserted today that it would not change the final result.

Signing of the Turco-Bulgarian agreement is regarded as conclusive evidence that King Ferdinand has definitely rejected the proposals of the Entente Powers. The popular demand in Bulgaria that Macedonia be reunited is overwhelming, and this is believed to have caused the Sofia government to decide in favor of the Teuton alliance.

AN OLD SOLDIER WAS VERY DIZZY

Somerville Man Owes His Restoration to Health to Plant Juice.

"In olden days people were more careful of the digestive organs than now and in this way they kept close to nature, learned the value of many of nature's medicinal plants and herbs, and used these herbs with their food," stated the Plant Juice Man. Continuing, he said:

"Today the average man does not know of these plants, but he does know that Plant Juice is a concentrated extract of them, and that it is the one aid for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, superinduced from the rapid method of living prevalent among all classes of today. Thousands have been benefited from the use of Plant Juice in every city where it has been introduced. In Boston Plant Juice is duplicating its success, as in many other cities, and I am daily in receipt of many signed statements testifying to the benefits received from sufferers of long-standing cases of stomach, liver and kidney troubles.

"Recently Mr. Elijah F. Cudworth, who resides at No. 23 Walter Street, Somerville, a well known G. A. R. man, who has lived in this city for the past 35 years and whose integrity is unquestioned, said:

"For the past nine months I have been troubled with my stomach. My food would sour in my stomach and cause gas and a bloated condition with severe pain. I had headaches and dizzy spells. I was so nervous and restless at night I did not get any sleep before two o'clock in the morning. I could not eat meat or vegetables of any kind as I could not keep any food in my stomach. My limbs were so stiff and weak that I could hardly walk. I had tried many kinds of medicines and got no relief, until I tried Plant Juice and found it just the medicine for me, as I am gaining in health every day. I have a fine appetite, sleep well and I can get around better on my feet than I ever could before."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Liggett Drug Co.'s Store, corner of Washington and Avon Streets, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

It has been said that more French history has been taught by Alexander Dumas in his romances than by all the text-book histories ever written.

Not only is this true of Dumas, but it is an accepted axiom that "the history of a period is its literature."

And it is so now. "The Girl Philippa," a novel by Robert W. Chambers, is going to give a clearer understanding of the present European War and the events leading up to it to those millions who will read it than all the dry facts they have gathered.

Not only is this tale well worth reading as a novel of love and adventure, but it will take its place alongside of "Ivanhoe" and "The Valois Romances" as a classical record of the period it covers—with the special advantage that Chambers, unlike Scott and Dumas, lives in the time about which he writes.

Preparedness Drill Urged at Colleges

J. Randolph Coolidge argued at the State House before the special commission on the practicability of creating a military reserve, to advocate the establishment of military departments in the Massachusetts colleges and technical schools, where young men could get three years of military training to fit them for military service and receive help from the State in the way of payments toward tuition and other expenses.

DRIVE BURGLAR FROM THREE HOUSES

WEST WAREHAM, Sept. 23.—Three houses near together were robbed early today by a daring burglar, who was routed out of each house in succession and finally made his getaway in an automobile with $35, a gold watch and some jewelry. He secured some booty in each house.

Between midnight and 1 a. m. the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler were awakened. They roused their parents. Butler lighted a lamp and went down stairs in time to hear retreating footsteps outdoors. He found that some of Mrs. Butler's jewelry had been taken.

A little later the children of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Morse were wakened. They called to their parents, but the burglar escaped a second time. As he crossed the yard Mrs. Morse caught a glimpse of his face and thinks she would be able to identify him. Mr. Morse's gold watch and $10 were taken.

Then the burglar, showing consummate nerve, entered the home of Louis Sefridi. Again the children heard him first and told their elders. Mr. Sefridi chased the intruder out of the house after $25 had been taken.

It was not until the heads of the families compared notes that they found that the burglar had made a tour of the neighborhood.

Sounds of an automobile in the darkness showed how the man came and went.

Pearson States Concord Heroes Ran from British

Talking on preparedness at the State House, General Pearson said that the Plattsburg and college camps were merely evidences of a short-lived patriotism, and not the patriotism of the revolutionary days. There is no such thing as "'76" patriotism now, he said.

In urging measures to construct a proper defensive system, he arraigned the past military history here. He declared it took between 300,000 and 400,000 Americans to defeat 40,000 British in the Revolution and that although there were 20,000 farmers on the line of the British retreat at Lexington, every time Lord Percy halted and trained his cannon the Americans ran away. The story was repeated in 1812 and the British took our capital and burned it, he said.

General Pearson said it required a draft and conscription before the Union was saved in the Civil War.

Beebe, Prominent Leather Man, Dead

Declius Beebe, sixty-three, member of the firm of Lucius Beebe & Son, and one of the best known leather merchants in New England, died suddenly at his home on West Foster street, Melrose, today as a result of heart failure.

Mrs. Beebe, accompanied by three daughters, left the Beebe home Monday for the Pacific Coast to attend the exposition. Telegrams will intercept them at Chicago.

Mr. Beebe had been president of the Melrose National Bank since its institution.

Uncle Sam Cheated on Whiskey Taxes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—A new leak in internal revenues of Uncle Sam has been discovered by Acting Chief of Internal Revenue Gates. He sent out a letter to collectors today to stop this "leak." Mr. Gates says it has been discovered that containers of whiskey hold fractions of gallons in addition to the even number of gallons on which the distillers pay tax. It is on these fractions of gallons of the stimulant that Uncle Sam gets no revenue.

Diphtheria Carriers Common on Streets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—You meet from 50 to 100 persons every day from whom you are liable to get diphtheria. At least 1 per cent. of all the people are carriers of this disease germ.

In announcing today the result of an extended investigation into the subject, the United States Public Health Service asserted that most of these 1 per cents are perfectly well themselves, but they carry the diphtheria germ.

Watchman Wounds an Annoying Boy

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 23.—Annoyed by a gang of small boys playing about the factory where he was a watchman, Jacob Lewis, aged 65, fired a revolver into the crowd, the shot seriously wounding ten-year-old George G. Hathaway.

Fine Woman in Hospital Case.

Mrs. Minnie Morgan of Parkman road and Manning street, Needham, was fined $50 today in Dedham court for operating a lying-in hospital without a license. She appealed and was held in $300.

EDDY LEAVES THOUSANDS TO CHARITY

Hospitals, other institutions and the Masonic fraternity are remembered in the will of Isaac H. Eddy of Dorchester, which was filed in the Suffolk Probate Court today.

Mr. Eddy was in the firm of D. Eddy & Sons, refrigerator manufacturers.

A codicil to the will leaves $10,000 outright to the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital and $5,000 to the Home for Incurables, both of this city.

The will sets aside $500 for the Union Lodge of Masons at Upham's Corner for a charity fund and $500 for the Dorchester Relief Society.

The testator's widow, Mrs. Rebecca Eddy, is to enjoy the income of the bulk of the estate for life. At her death $10,000 is to be paid to the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Masons for the benefit of the Masonic Home at Charlton; also $5,000 each to the Mt. Pleasant Home, the Farm and Trades School, the Boston Floating Hospital and the Industrial Home for Crippled and Deformed Children.

The balance of the estate is then to be divided among the testator's sister and four brothers.

Why We Quarreled--The Man's Side

No. 7—The Puritanical Husband Tells of His Battle Over His Daughters

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

Copyright, 1915, by Star Company

WHEN I was a child young girls were not allowed the freedom which is theirs now. And they were far gentler and less arrogant than is the young person of today.

My daughters are twins—sixteen years old. I insist that they are still children and should be treated as such. They should have the innocuous pleasures suited to their age.

"And what are those pleasures?" my wife asked me once when I made this statement.

"Candy pulls, simple games like dominoes and checkers, walking or driving parties and picnics—always in the daytime, and always with a mature chaperon along. That's the way my sisters were trained. And you were brought up in the same way," I supplemented, remembering suddenly how strict Irene's mother was with her.

My wife laughed as I enumerated the various amusements I considered proper.

"Imagine a modern, up-to-date girl satisfied with that kind of entertainment!" she jeered. "Why, they outgrow dominoes and checkers by the time they are ten years old. Walking and riding in parties have gone out of fashion. As to picnics, they are well enough in their proper season, but they are very elaborate affairs nowadays, and are only possible in summer at any rate. Even in your day pickles were not given in mid-winter, my dear."

I saw that she thought my contentions ridiculous and it vexed me.

"You may sneer if you like," I said, "but I do not consider the parties our girls attend the proper thing in their ages."

"Yet you sent them to dancing school," she reminded me. "Did you not expect them to attend dances later?"

"Certainly," I replied, "simple, sane dances such as we had when we were young."

THE CHANGING TIMES

"Times have changed, dear," she said gently, "and we must change with them."

I thought that perhaps she had at last reached my viewpoint, since she spoke so calmly, and I kissed her and said nothing more. I hoped that there would be no further cause for such disputes. They had become more and more frequent with each passing year.

But her manner meant only a desire to conciliate me. Even then she had in her mind a plan for the children, and desired my acquiescence. It was for a luncheon party of eight girls at a fashionable restaurant, followed by a box party at the matinee, and, after dinner, a little dance at our house in the evening.

"It is Christmas week," she told me, "and I want the children to have a good time."

"But," I protested, the program those girls have arranged would tire a woman of the world. It is outrageous."

"Young people can stand a good deal of fun," she said smilingly. "And Gladys and Hazel have set their hearts on having the gayest affair given by any of their set this season."

"It will cost a great deal," I ventured. "My wife has her own income and I could not use expense as my strongest weapon."

"I will defray half the expense," she said sternly, "if you wish me to."

"You know I don't grudge a cent for anything that will make my children happy," I reproved. "That is, if it is also good for them. But you are making fashionable women of little girls."

We argued hotly, and, as Gladys entered the room during our altercation, I knew I was put in the wrong in the eyes of my own daughter. At last I appealed to the child.

"Gladys," I asked, "wouldn't you and Hazel rather have a simpler affair than this one you are planning?"

"Indeed we wouldn't," she answered. "All the girls are giving stunning holiday parties, and we mean to beat them all."

"What a false standard you are following," I exclaimed. "I am surprised that you should allow it," I added, turning again to my wife.

To my distress, Gladys burst into tears. "It isn't fair to scold mother when she is trying to make us happy," she sobbed. "It isn't fair!"

"There, there, dear!" sobbed the mother. "Father doesn't understand—but mother does!"

I resolved to try to understand the situation. I knew my wife is devoted to her children and that she is a good woman. Perhaps I told myself, I was narrow and old-fogey, as my wife often suggested.

Yet, when on the night of the dance in our drawing-room, I stood at one side and watched my daughters, my heart turned sick within me. The modern dances seemed to me suggestive; the dresses worn by the girls immodest. I sought out my wife where she stood in the shadow of the bay-window, gazing with smiling eyes at the dancers.

THE ISSUE JOINED

"Isn't it all pretty?" she appealed as I came up.

"It's disgusting!" I burst forth, indignantly. "I tell you I can't stand this kind of thing! It is bad enough to see a married woman who is able to take care of herself, gliding about in the tight clutch of a man—but it is shameful to allow one's daughter to dance such dances in such a way!"

She looked at me aghast. "I would not," she said slowly and accusingly, "have such an evil imagination as yours for all the money in the world. What you have just said is an insult to your wife and daughters."

I cannot prove that it was not, for all the girls in the fashionable set dance such dances in the same style.

But I often wonder if all husbands and wives in that set quarrel as do my wife and I about the freedom allowed the up-to-date young girl.

Not for Him

A gentleman who is a keen sportsman, but an execrable marksman, some time ago went with an English shooting party, and had the misfortune to hit cripple a keeper. After this experience the head keeper took extra precautions for the safety of himself and others.

On the occasion of the gentleman's last visit the keeper who usually attended him happened to be ill, so another was substituted. The new man was not allowed to take up his position until he had received his instructions from the head keeper himself.

Toward the close of a busy day, during which the gentleman had been distinctly unfortunate—having hit nothing—he was told by his keeper that his ammunition was exhausted.

"Indeed!" he exclaimed, espying a number of partridges in the bag. "Then, what are these?"

"Oh," answered the man, "them's too for you, sir. They're for another beat. They've got shot in 'em."

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches and pains in my lower part of back and in sides and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a well woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—MRS. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the greatest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ailments which proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory are piles containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Discovery Enables Any One to Have Curly Hair

Quite accidentally some one made the discovery that the application of ordinary liquid silmerine would actually curl straight, lifeless hair and wavy in a few hours. She told her friends about it, who in turn told others, and now thousands of women have profited by the discovery. The simplicity and harmlessness of the method and the way the hair dries in such pretty curls and ringlets, will appeal to any one who tries it.

The favorite way is to apply the silmerine with a clean tooth brush before retiring. The effect upon arising is quite surprising, the curliness having such a natural appearance and the hair being so bright and lustrous. Particularly will this be appreciated by the habitual user of the despoiling curling iron—which, happily, can now be discarded. The liquid silmerine, which can of course be obtained from any druggist, is neither sticky nor greasy. A few ounces will keep the hair curly for many weeks.—Mirror of Fashion.—Advertisement.

"I Know a GIRL There!"

No. 2—New York City By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service.

HERE the young chap settles back after he's cried, "I know a girl there!" and dreams. And why not? For the New York girl is a thing that dreams catch fire on sure enough. A girl with a piquant something, the play quirk, the cast of eye and hair and neck fixings and hands and feet that cry aloud for black and white. She's a gold girl, sometimes, of course—but when I shut my eyes and conjure up her image—her eyes are dark—everywhere dark—and soft, with confidence to hold critics off each side of a nose that is pure American. The New York girl makes me think always of that lovely thing, a thoroughbred horse—so perfectly groomed that because of this she seems to never remember that she has a throat-ribbon, or a shell pin in her soft, dark hair, proudly stepping, as haughty as the dickens, a bit languid, yet taut as a racing yacht putting to sea, a bit of femininity that carries the eyes of a wistful child and the mouth of a nymph above the very smartest gown in the world. The dark, Oriental-looking, tender and cold, scornful and worldly wise on Fifth avenue—and fun-loving and childlike on the beaches, fine-skinned, smart little New York girl, with the very latest on top of her proud little head and—within it!—NELL BRINKLEY.

Animals as Wooers

Some of Their Ways of Courting

LET us not flatter ourselves that we are the only sincere wooers. The animals are just as sincere, curious and interesting as human beings in making love. That of the monkey and apes, however, is rather noisy, for the males have the habit of uttering loud cries in their endeavors to discover the whereabouts of females desiring mates.

The most curious animal courtship, perhaps, is that of the male deer, who resorts to perfumes. Deer have certain skin glands which, at the mating season, secrete certain creamy matter which has a pungent odor. In the musk-deer this secretion has a most powerful odor of musk, and, when diluted, forms the basis of many of our most powerful and prized perfumes.

Wife by capture is the law among hippopotami, according to W. P. Pycraft, the distinguished English naturalist. About the second week in June the bull hippopotami search for their mates, seize those they fancy—for they are incorrigible polygamists—and fight all rivals.

The manner in which the peacock proves itself and displays its feathers when searching for a bride has often been commented upon. The strangest bird courting, however, is that of the lesser birds of paradise, who hold dancing parties at which the male birds work themselves into a state bordering on frenzy and attract the females by uttering loud, penetrating cries.

The crane is another bird which dances for his love and makes her many graceful bows, while cockatoos—birds largely found in South America—dance in pairs and sing at the same time.

No Proof

"Did you actually see the shot fired?" asked the judge, who was trying a case. "No, sor," was the reply; "I only heard it," was the evasive reply.

"That evidence is not satisfactory," replied the judge sternly. "Stand down!" The witness proceeded to leave the box, and as soon as his back was turned to the judge he laughed decisively. The judge, indignant at this contempt of court, called him back and asked him how he dared to laugh in court. "Did ye see me laugh, your honor?" asked the offender. "No, sir, but I heard you!" was the irate reply. "That evidence is not satisfactory," said Pat quietly.

USE ANTI-KAMNIA TABLETS

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two Anti-Kamnia Tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one Anti-Kamnia Tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, cause the pain and bring rest and quiet.

Anti-kamnia may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for Anti-Kamnia Tablets. They quickly relieve all pain.

Their Married Life

Helen Finds Mary Entertaining When She Returns Unexpectedly.

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service.

WARREN opened the door with a latch key and they stepped inside and looked around the empty apartment. Helen had left the place closed up, and the chairs were shrouded in linen covers. There was a musty smell in the air, and the door that led into the kitchen was closed. Helen thought she discerned a faint sound behind the closed door, a sound of a man's laugh half smothered. She looked at Warren in silence, but Warren walked over to the door and threw it open. The dining room was just as Helen left it, but a sound came from the kitchen beyond and Warren, followed by Helen and Winifred, walked over and threw open that door as well.

Mary arose with a shamed expression on her round, good-natured face. The room was strewn with the remains of a spread, and two men and another girl were sitting with Mary around a table in the centre playing cards. Helen noticed plenty of her best china in evidence and she looked at Mary reproachfully.

Mary stood awkwardly looking at Helen, as though she hardly knew what to say, and Helen walked into the room while a dead silence reigned.

"It's late, Mary," she said evenly, "and you had better ask your friends to go now." She said this kindly, and the visitors rose instantly and began to get ready to leave.

With a whispered word to Warren, Helen left the room and, leaving her outer things on the bed in her room, she told Winifred to run into the front with daddy. She was a little uncertain as to how to approach Mary. Of course she had done wrong, and yet it was hardly eleven, and any girl will take advantage at some time. It might have been worse, and of course Mary was not Nora.

Out in the kitchen Mary was scrambling to put the dishes up. There were several beer bottles scattered about, and Helen had a suspicion that their own beer had been taken to quench the thirst of Mary's friends.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Where did this beer come from, Mary?" she asked finally.

"Oh, Mrs. Curtis," began Mary, "I'm sorry! I didn't know you would be after coming home tonight."

"But what difference does that make?" queried Helen. "Did you take the beer out of the cans in the pantry?"

"Yes, ma'am," very low.

"Why did you do it, Mary? Of course you know that it didn't belong to you?"

"But, ma'am, you let me use other things in the house to eat, I didn't see any harm."

"Don't you understand that I trusted you, Mary, and you took something that didn't belong to you?"

Mary began to cry softly and her big Irish eyes looked up at Helen pleadingly. She was so young, only a child. Helen hated to be severe with her, and yet if she were to be a good maid something must be done.

Helen walked over to the dishpan and looked within.

"My good china, too, Mary," she said, severely.

"Yes, ma'am," assented Mary, weakly.

"Wasn't the old good enough?"

"Yes, but I——" Mary faltered.

"Well," interrupted Helen.

"I wanted to show them the good china, ma'am, entirely."

Helen stooped to hide a smile and as she did noticed the pail which stood under the sink and into which the odds and ends were thrown. She stooped lower and brought to view the broken pieces of one of her Haviland fruit plates.

"Oh, Mary," she said, "how could you be so careless?"

"It was my friend, ma'am, he didn't mean to."

"I didn't let you know when we were coming home," said Helen, "because we came unexpectedly, but I didn't expect to find anything like this."

Mary hung her head.

"There isn't anything more to be said," went on Helen, "but the kitchen must be all put in order before you go to bed."

"Shall I cook something, ma'am?"

"No; we have had dinner." And Helen with a sigh turned away. "Remember, Mary, you are never to touch the best china and there must be no more night parties. I don't object to your seeing your friends, but not in that way. If I cannot trust you, Mary, you will have to go and I will get someone else."

"Oh, no," protested the girl, "don't send me away, Mrs. Curtis. Nora would never forgive me, and she would write home and tell my people, please don't send me away."

Helen left to go back into the living room after a few more injunctions.

THE RESPITE

"Well, when is she going?" queried Warren.

"Not at all dear, she is really sorry, and after all she is young and foolish."

Warren smoked in silence and said nothing more. Winifred nodded her head in an effort to keep awake, and Helen lifted her in her arms with a murmured endearment.

"She is too heavy for you to carry," protested Warren, rising and taking the child from Helen's arms. "I'll carry her to bed."

"You'd better turn in yourself," he said as he stood and watched Helen undress his daughter, "you must be dead tired."

"Wasn't it dear the way she met us?" said Helen irrelevantly.

"You were mighty glad to get her back, weren't you?"

"Well, so were you, weren't you, dear?"

"Just a little; gee, she is brown as a berry and fat," he said pinching the smooth little leg.

"And well," amended Helen, "and I hope we can keep her so. Don't be long, dear," as he went out slowly, "you are too tired and need the rest, too."

Orders Obeyed

Mrs. Fowler was a very stern woman, who demanded instant and unquestioned obedience from her children. One afternoon a storm came on, and she sent her son Bertie to close the trap-door leading to the roof-garden of the house.

When tea was half over Aunt Marie, who was staying with Mrs. Fowler, had not appeared. Mrs. Fowler started an investigation. She did not have to ask questions. Bertie answered the first one.

"Please, mother, she's on the roof."

TODAY'S BEAUTY AIDS

To clear up and whiten the skin and secure that charm of pink and white youthful freshness so much desired by all women you will find it far safer to rely upon a good face lotion rather than powder. To get rid of that shiny and muddy appearance in your complexion, dissolve four ounces of spermaceti in one-half pint hot water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerin. Apply this to your face, neck and arms, rubbing gently until dry. You should not show or rub off like powder and is much better. It is splendid for removing tan, freckles, pimples and sunburn.

You can make a delightful shampoo for a very trifling cost if you first procure from your druggist a package of cantharox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Pour a little at a time on the scalp and rub briskly. This creates an abundance of thick, white lather that thoroughly dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

THINK 4 BODIES ARE BURIED IN N. Y. SUBWAY

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Official investigations into the Seventh avenue subway disaster were pushed vigorously today while search of the debris continued in the hunt for four bodies believed to be buried near West Twenty-fourth street. Five hundred men dug into the mass of rock, asphalt and broken timbers all night, working under the glare of great arc-lights.

The chief investigation under way was that conducted by District Attorney Perkins and the grand jury, though four other inquiries were also in progress. As soon as he reached his office the District Attorney sent out subpoenas for four flagmen employed by the United States Realty and Improvement Company, the company excavating the new tube; the engineer and assistant engineer in charge of the work and the public service commission's engineer having supervision over the work.

Augustus Mezzanotte, blasting foreman on the new subway, surrendered to the police today after they had searched for him for twenty-four hours to arrest him on a charge of homicide. He was at once taken to the office of District Attorney Perkins and questioned.

The grand jury investigation and that of the public service commission bade fare to clash because the District Attorney subpoenaed John H. Myers, the commission's supervisor of structural work in the new subways.

A Message to Thin Weak Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 Pounds of Solid, Healthy Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may be carried to the shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. A splendid way of working to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to try Sargol, the famous flesh building agent that has been so widely sold in America in recent years. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and see if your cheeks don't quickly fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh form over your body, covering each bony angle and protecting point.

All good druggists have Sargol or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each large package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NOTE.—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

WRAY, DEPOSED HARVARD COACH, TO MAKE FIGHT

In the rowing shake-up at Harvard, William Haines (shown in picture) is to be given charge of pair-oar work, and will advise Head Coach Herrick in the selection of good material for the varsity crews.

Jim Wray, the Harvard rowing coach who has been suddenly deposed, has secured a lawyer to protect his interests under the contract Wray has with Chairman Robert F. Herrick of the Harvard rowing committee.

This lawyer is Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle.

Mr. Lavelle prepared today to secure a conference with Mr. Herrick.

Wray said today briefly: "I have consulted counsel whom you must see as to my plans."

Wray's contract with Herrick is a personal one. The exact term of the contract is in doubt. One report gives it two years more to run. Other reports extend this time to five or six years more.

HERRICK TO SUCCEED.

The big Australian has finally fallen a victim to the element that has sought to have him ousted ever since his first defeat on the Thames two seasons ago, when Guy Nickalls, imported especially from England to accomplish his downfall, saw his Yale crew win from Harvard by a hair-trigger verdict.

Wray's successor at Harvard will be Robert F. Herrick, now chairman of the university's advisory rowing committee. He will be assisted by William Haines, coach of the Union Boat Club crew of Boston.

Haines will be delegated to drill the Harvard boys in pair-oar work and will act as adviser to Herrick in selecting and drilling the varsity crews in preparation for the 1916 races.

Wray rounded out his eleventh season as varsity coach at Cambridge last June.

The Harvard rowing management officially has no agreement with the deposed leader.

WRAY'S CAREER.

Previous to Nickalls' arrival at Yale, Wray had won seven of his nine annual varsity starts against Yale. The past two seasons yielded Yale victories, last Spring's race on the Thames being a decisive triumph for the Blue and Nickalls' method of coaching.

Herrick captained his crew of 1890, but relinquished his post under conditions similar to those which caused Captain Dayne Denegre to voluntarily resign his seat in Yale's varsity crew to a more competent oarsman.

His best known feat was the victory of the Harvard second crew at the English Henley in 1914, the crack's castoffs winning the highest honors in rowing by carrying off the Grand Challenge Cup and being the first American crew able to accomplish this triumph. Herrick coached the eight for the race.

Haines has been coach for the Unions for the past six years. His crew rowed second to the Harvard second at the English Henley. He will probably continue in his position with the Unions.

Candidates for the Harvard crews will be called out for Fall practice next Wednesday at the Newell Boat Club.

POLICE SECURE CLEW IN BIGLEY MURDER

HOLYOKE, Sept. 23.—City Marshal Harrington today declared he and his men have a clew which may lead to the arrest of the slayer of little Lillian Begley.

"We are nearer a solution of the Lillian Begley murder mystery today than at any time sice we began work on the case, and hope to make an arrest," said Harrington.

If the murderer of the five-year-old child is not apprehended soon, the city may offer a reward of $500 for his capture. Public spirited citizens will increase the offer of a reward by substantial contributions.

The police today listened to stories of different young men who live in the vicinity of the Begley home.

Distribute Roses Among Hospitals

Thousands of inmates of Boston's hospitals were made happy today when, through the generosity of Henry Penn, the florist, the largest consignment of flowers ever received in this city at a single purchase were distributed through the various wards of 29 leading hospitals.

They were delivered to the hospitals by the employes of the Penn establishment and distributed to the patients by the doctors and nurses. Following is a list of the hospitals: Children's, Boston City, City Hospital, south department; Homeopathic, Consumptives, Matapan; Massachusetts General, St. Elizabeth's, Carney, Mt. Sinai, Peter Bent Brigham, Robert Brigham, Free Home for Consumptives, Holy Ghost, St. Margaret's, Boston Nursery for Blind Babies, Cambridge; Forsyth Dental, Convalescents' Home, Vincent Memorial and New England Women's.

Readers at Harvard Graduation Scored

That the readers of commencement parts at the annual graduation exercises at Harvard are ill suited for their posts has caused considerable discussion at Harvard. Last June's addresses were mediocre in quality and with one exception were delivered without any great elocutionary power. In an effort to eradicate the trouble a committee on parts at commencement has been appointed and will consist of Dean Briggs and Professors Fenn, Winter, Ripley, C. N. Jackson, Frankfurter and Sprague.

Mobile Man Given Sentence as a Spy

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Fred Moore of Mobile, Ala., was sentenced to five years in prison and twenty years banishment from France, following his conviction on the charge of espionage. Moore was caught with letters addressed to the German war minister which were concealed in the sole of his shoe. A letter from United States Ambassador Sharp was read, expressing belief that Moore is a Spaniard.

Body of U. S. Arabic Victim Recovered

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 23.—The body of Dr. Edmund F. Woods of Janesville, Wis., who lost his life through the torpedoing of the steamship Arabic, has been washed ashore at Ross Carbery, County Cork.

BRITAIN FORMS TRADE SECRET SERVICE

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—While the State Department is endeavoring, so far with no success, to secure a complete understanding with Great Britain whereby American importers can get their goods through to this country, evidence is accumulating to show how general the British attempt to secure control of the markets of the world actually is.

The latest plan is the organization of a commercial secret service. Official documents reached the State Department and the Commerce Department today outlining this plan, which is under the direction of the British Board of Trade.

The new organization, the report says, is organized so that firms in the United Kingdom desirous of receiving confidential information as to opportunities for the extension of trade abroad and all connected matters shall be enabled to do so.

A special fee is charged for the information, and it is explained that the data is collected from British consular offices and trade correspondents everywhere. It is stated that a special effort will be made to compile information which will "enable British merchants to secure the trade formerly enjoyed by German and Austrian manufacturers and merchants."

In this connection samples of all goods manufactured in Germany and Austria, which were sent for the most part to South America and Australia, are to be compiled and will be exhibited in the commercial intelligence branch of the British Board of Trade.

Officials say this work is already so well organized that it is very probable that after the war British manufacturers will have secured a great deal of the trade that Americans have confidently counted on.

The conference between Sir Richard Crawford, the British embassy trade expert, and Acting Secretary Polk will be continued daily, it was said at the State Department today, until a plan for the relief of the Americans' importers can be decided on.

HOW I DARKENED MY GRAY HAIR

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That Used to Darken Her Gray Hair.

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the preparaed dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction and they were all expensive. I finally ran onto a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gives wonderful results. I gave the recipe, which is as follows, to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 7 ozs. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ½ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Use every other day until the hair becomes the required shade, then every two weeks. It will not only darken the gray hair, but removes dandruff and scalp humors, and acts as a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp.

Dr. Austin Flint, Thaw Alienist, Dead

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Dr. Austin Flint, the distinguished psychologist and consulting physician, is dead at his home, No. 118 East Nineteenth street. He died just after he had put on his coat and was preparing to go out. Apoplexy was the cause.

Although Dr. Flint was seventy-nine, he had been comparatively active up to his death. He took a prominent part at the jury trial to determine Harry K. Thaw's sanity in July and kept up the fight which he had waged for seven years, to keep Thaw in Matteawan.

THE EX-WILD MAN'S STORY

The Captain, Mike Swansen, Red Dog Pinney and the ex-Wild Man continued digging away the gravel. For a time they seemed to be making no progress. Immense quantities kept sliding down from above and blotting out their efforts. Instead of discouraging the ex-Wild Man, this seemed to make him dig all the harder. The others, although they felt foolish, not knowing what it was all about, worked harder, too. After hours the slides from above became less frequent and late in the afternoon the ex-Wild Man gave a shout, fell on his knees and ran his hand along the smooth surface of a stone about one foot wide and three feet long. "Golly, Golly!" he cried." The others quit work and gathered around. Then he started to laugh. "All right, all right!" he said, "Me find steps to tunnel!" Then he told his three pals that he had faintly remembered a story which the black man he had met on the island had told him. "Let's knock off work for a while," said the Captain. That night, seated around the fire, after a hearty meal of fried fish, the ex-Wild Man told this story—

FRENCH WRECK GERMAN ARMS DEPOTS

By International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 23—Destruction of numerous German ammunition stations by French artillery in Champagne is reported in today's War Office communique. The official report says that the great artillery duel in which millions of dollars' worth of shells have already been used is still in progress. The text of the communique follows:

"In Artois the enemy violently bombarded the sector of Souchez and put trenches to the south of La Source under artillery responded vigorously. There was some fighting from trench to trench in the region of Neuville. Our artillery directed an intense and effective fire on the German trenches to the north and south of Ary, as well as toward Beauraignes.

"The explosion of a German mine exploded to the northwest of Perthes without causing any damage of importance. The fire of our batteries blew up numerous ammunition depots.

"In the Argonne we bombarded in different attacks portions of the enemy's lines where his works were reported. The German artillery replied feebly.

"Artillery duels occurred on the Meuse heights and between the Meuse and Moselle, accompanied by conflicts with bombs and torpedoes, grenades at Vauquois and at Eparges."

CITY OF DVINSK NEAR CAPTURE BY TEUTONS

By International News Service.

BERLIN, Sept 23—In addition to the heavy German artillery fire against the Western defences of the fortress of Dvinsk (Dunaburg), General von Hindenburg's troops are making terrible bayonet assaults against the Russian lines.

Today's official report from the German general staff states that Von Hindenburg's troops have penetrated the advanced Russian position west of Dvinsk, capturing 17 officers, 2,105 men and four machine guns.

"The Russian resistance on the front stretching from a point north of Oschmjany (thirty miles southeast of Vilna) to the region east of Subotschnikt, on the Gawja river, has been broken, it is now announced. The Germans took 1,000 prisoners.

"The Russian position west of Walewaka, twenty miles north of Baranowitch, has been captured by Prince Leopold of Bavaria, the Germans taking 380 men and two machine guns.

"News of the capture of Dvinsk by the Germans is expected within forty-eight hours, despite the tremendous obstacles which the lakes and swamps west and south of the city offer to the attacking troops.

"Great pine forests west of Dvinsk, in the region of Novo Alexandrovsk, have been set on fire by the Russians to compel a retirement of the Germans from their advanced positions, and for miles the country-side is a seething furnace.

"There is only one point on the 370-mile front from the Pripet River to the Baltic where the Russians are able to attempt an offensive movement. That is in the region of Lennewaden, northwest of Friedrichstadt, where today, a Petrograd report says, hard fighting is in progress.

"In the section east of Vilna the Germans have now pushed forward till they are forty-five miles southeast of that city, and they are attacking the Russian rear guard between Sinorzonje and Molodetschno.

EVACUATION OF MINSK ORDERED BY THE RUSSIANS

By International News Service.

PETROGRAD, Sept 23—Russian military authorities have ordered the evacuation of Minsk by its civilian population. The evacuation is now in progress.

German troops are now assailing Dvinsk by land, by water and by air. While the Teutons are bombarding the fortress with their heavy artillery, balloons containing asphyxiating gas are being sent up to float over the city. Forces that succeeded in reaching the Dvina River near Dubona launched fire craft equipped with motors which carried them up the river almost to the Dvinsk piers.

Chief interest in the military situation centres today on Minsk and Dvinsk. The former city is the point to which General Evert's Vilna army is retreating. It is the junction of the Minsk-Moscow and the Minsk-Gomel railway. It is an important manufacturing centre with a population of more than one hundred thousand. All the Minsk factories are being dismantled and the country west of the city laid waste by the retreating Russian army.

Russian military experts assert that the Bavarian army and the right wing of the Prussian forces under Von Hindenburg are taking desperate chances in continuing their pursuit of the Russian army while Von Mackensen is held up by the Pripet marshes and the left wing and centre of Von Hindenburg's army are being checked at the Dvina River.

As the Bavarians and Prussians advance toward Minsk they form a salient subject to attack from both the northeast and southeast. They are proceeding through a country which has been completely devastated, finding, as the Bourse Gazette expert says, "Even less means of subsistence than did Napoleon, and meeting conditions fully equal to those which confronted Napoleon on his march to Moscow."

The attack on Dvinsk with gas balloons is similar to that made upon Osowiec while the Bobr River fortress was resisting the German assaults. Major-General Brjosovsky, the commander at Osowiec, reported that on a single day the Germans sent into that fortress 600 balloons containing asphyxiating gas.

BATTLES IN THE AIR MARK ACTION IN THE WESTERN THEATRE

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—The following official report on the Western Theatre of war was issued by the German war office today.

"Western Theatre—Favored by very clear weather great activity has reigned on the part of the artillery and air services on both sides all along the front.

"An attack, apparently directed against our position in the cemetery near Souches could not be carried out because of our military fire and enemy aeroplanes, met Ablaze by our fire crashed to earth.

"This machine fell north of St. Menerould, in the Argonne. Another was forced to alight southeast of Vouziers after a battle in the air, and the occupants were made prisoners. Above Ponta-Mousson, a German aviator shot down a French machine after a battle with two French airmen. The French machine was on fire when it fell between the lines."

Roy Corrie, South End Boy Comedian, Killed in Battle

George Edward Chrimes, better known by his stage name of Roy Corrie, has been killed at the Dardanelles, according to information received here. Chrimes lived at No 195 West Newton street when in Boston. As a musician and eccentric comedian he had played the big circuits the country over.

Land Held by Germans Size of Missouri

WASHINGTON, Sept 22—The Commerce Bureau has received an Association of Commerce and Trade report from Berlin, saying:

"It is of interest at the close of the first war year to record the amount of hostile territory occupied by the belligerents. In regard to prisoners taken, only German data is available. The territory occupied by the allies consists of La Galitzia, 5,861 square miles; a part of Alsace-Lorraine to which relief a total of 1,85- square miles. The territory is about the size of the State of Missouri and about one-third the size of the German Empire.

Britain Finds Meat in U. S. Too Costly

LONDON, Sept 23—"The Board of trade does not allow the American meat trust to get all they ask for, nor ship owners to get all they want," Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, stated in the House of Commons.

The American trust boosted prices, he declared, making United States meats too costly.

Steps had been taken by the British government, Mr. Runciman said, to secure meat in Argentina, and Australia had assured a good supply.

German Airmen Drop Bomb in Switzerland

By International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 23—"Two German aeroplanes violated Swiss neutrality on Tuesday by flying over Swiss soil," says a Geneva dispatch to the Journal. "The aeroplanes were returning from France. They flew over Cornavin and dropped a bomb which fell forty yards from a farmhouse. The aviators then flew toward Alsace."

U. S. FEARS FOR MISSIONARIES IN TURKEY

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept 22—Hundreds of American missionaries and teachers in Asiatic Turkey today are in grave danger of massacre, it was announced. Receipt of advices to that effect became known on behalf of the American women and children [illegible] James L. Barton of Boston, representing the great American interests in Turkey, today told the State Department that [illegible] information shows that, as a first attempt to interfere in behalf of the Armenians, the foreign missionaries and teachers will feel the vengeance of the Turks.

"One has discussed the situation with President Wilson and will see him again on the subject. Barton went to New York at noon to arrange for a general meeting of a committee on Armenian relief. Official help at this time is considered impracticable.

"We are advised" said Barton, "that Ambassador Morgenthau has recently been informed that no interference by foreign ambassadors with Turkish military policy relative to the Armenians will be brooked by the Turkish government. The men who sent this warning were Enver Pasha and Talaat Bey, who are the real rulers of Turkey.

"We are convinced that Lord Bryce's statement published last week is not an exaggeration. He said in substance that there is now going forward a process of extermination of the Armenians in Asiatic Turkey that surpasses any atrocity of the kind in history."

C. E. OSGOOD CO.

AFTER 60 YEARS

By HOWARD NOBLE

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION, in spite of its growth in recent years, has everywhere proved a failure. It has failed as a moral force and as a promoter of wealth. Above all, it has failed of the one purpose which might justify its existence—it has nowhere prohibited the sale and use of liquor. Indeed in most instances it has aggravated the evils of the traffic.

That State prohibition is a failure can be demonstrated to the satisfaction of any unprejudiced person who will take the trouble to inform himself at first hand of actual conditions in any prohibition State he may select. The truth has been admitted by many prohibitionists, including Capt. Hobson, champion of a new panacea for the world's ills—nation-wide prohibition.

Saloons Galore

It is reasonable to assume that those States which have longest had prohibition furnish the best examples of its success or failure. Let us glance at the oldest. Maine, to-day, is "wide open," after more than sixty years of prohibition. At the present time Portland has more than one hundred open saloons and innumerable speak-easies. It is estimated that Lewiston has nearly two hundred places where liquor is sold, many of which are as accessible as those in Boston. These places sell all sorts of liquors. Many of the Lewiston saloons are as up-to-date in stock and furnishings as those in a license State. Bangor has two hundred liquor places, scores of which are wide open.

Maine's Disgrace

So openly is the law violated in Maine, a few months ago the Rev. Wilbur F. Berry, head of Maine's leading anti-liquor organization, demanded that Gov. Curtis call out the militia to enforce prohibition. The Governor admitted the law was being flagrantly violated, but declared himself powerless to remedy matters.

Drunkenness is a matter of disgrace to several Maine cities. In Lewiston the number of arrests from March 1, 1915 to Sept. 3, 1915, six months, were 1,476, and it is admitted that many drunks were detained by the police without being recorded. In Portland 3,681 drunks were arrested in 1914, or one to every sixteen of population. Bangor had 3,167 arrests for drunkenness for the year ending March 1, 1915, or a little better than one in every seven of population. These figures prove that drunkenness in Maine cities is greatly in excess of that in the vast majority of license cities.

Prosperity Minus

Prohibition States, as a rule, are not so prosperous as the States where liquor is legally sold, because while the sale of liquor keeps on the revenue stops, and there also stop many industries allied with the sale of liquors. In savings bank deposits, for example, the latest statistics show that Maine was $30. below the average for the United States. Wages in Maine are notoriously low. If prohibition is a promoter of prosperity, should there not be some visible evidence of it in Maine after sixty years?

Reign of Lawlessness

But the chief indictment against State-wide prohibition is found in the bad moral and law-and-order aspects of the situation. Where the sale of liquor is not regulated by responsible licensing authorities no adequate protection can be given the young and the weak of either sex; and where one important law is violated with impunity, all laws must inevitably suffer. Thus a premium is placed upon lawlessness, as is all too frequently seen in prohibition sections. The story of Maine is the story of every prohibition State in varying degree. Emphatically prohibition does not prohibit, nor does it add anything to the welfare of the State. It is the one gigantic failure in legislative history.

BIG GREEN SORE AT WILLIAMS' CHARGES

HANOVER, Sept. 23.—The athletic authorities at Dartmouth deny in most emphatic terms that it is trying to "kidnap" one of Minnesota's football stars, as alleged by Dr. Harry Williams, the football coach and a former Yale star.

"The heat has got Williams," is the way the "sensation" is punctured here.

The feature of the varsity practice was a great run of seventy yards by MacDonough, formerly of Exeter, who eased his way up the field through the entire first eleven. He also looked mighty good calling the plays. Lobman also plunged through the varsity line for a touchdown.

WILLIAMS CLAIMS IT'S SO.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 23. — Head Coach Williams of the University of Minnesota eleven states that a millionaire alumnus of Dartmouth has made End Al Quist, one of the Gophers' Best Bets, a big cash offer to get and enter the Hanover school. "I am exposing the affair because I want such methods stopped," said Williams.

NOTHING DOING, STATES HALL.

"Dartmouth has never offered an athlete a single penny to enter its halls," said E. K. Hall, one of the Hanover School's most prominent graduates and a man who has done a lot for its athletic teams, today. "Dr. Williams' charges if he has really been correctly quoted, are absurd."

School Football Player Injured

One injury is recorded in local high school football circles. The first day of real strenuous practice at Huntington resulted in an injury to Guard Theodore Cowen, who played guard for Allen School last season. He fractured his wrist and probably will be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

Dodgers Sign Four.

Four of the eight players obtained by the Dodgers in the annual draft have signed contracts, according to announcement by the Brooklyn club. They are Elwin Burtis, outfield, from Seattle; Ben Colwell, right-handed pitcher, from Vancouver; Monty Printz, right-handed pitcher, from Syracuse, and Tom Reilly, shortstop from New Orleans. Reilly is thirty years old.

Brookline High Underway.

Has Anybody Seen Tilley?

ITHACA, Sept. 23.—Cornell coaches are very anxious to learn the whereabouts of Guard Tilley, one of the 1914 stars, who is numbered among the missing. He has promised to come back, but is overdue. The varsity, showing fair form at best, scored twice on the scrubs.

Comet Flays the Champion.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—In an exhibition tennis match, viewed by a big gallery, Maurice E. McLoughlin defeated National Champion W. M. Johnston in straight sets, 6—4, 6—4.

B. C. MEN DISPLAY PLENTY OF "PEP"

Plenty of "pep" was displayed by the Boston College football candidates in a long hard workout under the direction of Coach Mahoney this afternoon. Although but the second day of work, the men seemed in very good shape, so much so that Coach Mahoney ordered a five-minute scrimmage.

From all appearances the team, although light, will be a speedy one. Captain Duffy played at quarter, but this is only temporary, as he is regarded as better at a halfback position.

The loss in the line at tackle, caused by O'Connor going to Georgetown, has been filled by Denny Haggerty. Haggerty is a big fellow, and made a name for himself at Exeter three years ago, both as a football player and as a champion shot-putter. Steve Fitzgerald of last year's crack Notre Dame team made a very favorable impression at fullback. He is fast and heavy. Kiley, captain and halfback of last year's team, will not play again this year owing to an injury received in the Catholic University game last year.

Centre is a position that is bothering the coaches. Pe Mers of Fall River and Falvey of B. C. High are the most likely candidates, but neither one measures up to Alec Anderson, last year's star, now at Holy Cross.

Wright of Michigan seems destined to do the punting and drop kicking. He is a natural punter and has no trouble in getting the pigskin off for fifty and sixty yards.

Army Has First Real Scrimmage of Season

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The first scrimmage of the season was staged on the Plains. The varsity and the third eleven were sent through two strenuous periods of ten minutes each. Oliphant, the former Perdue star, lugged the ball through the uprights from the 25-yard mark for the first score of the season.

The varsity's tally came after a hard drive from midfield, Coffin and Ford starting in the advance. Ford later carried the ball over for a touchdown.

Meacham, the big guard, was injured, and gave way to Holmes, who played well. Green, a new man, distinguished himself in the line work of the field. Britton and Kelly, both promising end men, were missing because of injuries.

Trainer Harry Tuthill started his training table in the mess hall and took fifty men of the squad with him.

Jim Flynn Favored in Bout with Reich

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—Referee Walter Bates did not give Jim Flynn, the Fighting Fireman, any the worst of it when he adjudged him the victor over Arthur Reich at the end of their ten-round scrap. A draw verdict would have been about proper; but Reich probably had more right to the verdict than Flynn.

Reich outpunched and outboxed Flynn in nine of the rounds and the finish found the Fireman bleeding and groggy, while Reich left the arena unmarked.

Red Men Plan Banner Meet.

Final arrangements for the field day and athletic meet of the Improved Order of Red Men of Greater Boston, to be held at Fulton Grove on Columbus Day, Tuesday, October 12, will be completed at a meeting of the general committee at Winona Hall in Dorchester tomorrow evening.

Franklin Speedway Races.

The Franklin Field Speedway will be the scene of a classy program of harness racing Saturday. In addition to events in six classes, H. P. Gallup's Direction-Regent will attempt to lower his half-mile mark of 1.05.

Athletic Events Will Feature Gay Brockton Fair

With seventeen events on the program, the athletic carnival at the Brockton Fair, October 7, stands out as one of the leading athletic attractions of the outdoor season. In addition to all the standard track and field events, there will be several closed events. Club and school stars usually enter these games.

Feature events are the 440-yards novice, the Plymouth County championships at 100 yards (scratch) and 440 yards and the mile relay (scratch). In the regular events the winners will receive gold watches, second place men silver watches and cheaper silver watches to contestants who come in third. The special events award gold watch fobs will be given the point winner, not counting the relay, and the athlete breaking the fair record in the running high jump and pole vault. The high school, club or college gathering the most points, a silk banner will be awarded.

Entries close September 29 with Horace A. Keith, No. 26 Pinkham street, Brockton. The fee is but twenty-five cents.

Soccer Soon to Get Started in Boston Schools

Soccer, which is the only Fall sport now allowed the smaller of the Boston high schools, soon gets under way. Schedules, as arranged by the coaches, have been submitted to the school athlete authorities and passed upon. Brighton, West Roxbury, East Boston, Charlestown, Hyde Park, South Boston, all will play the Canadian game.

Henry "Dutch" Halligan will coach the East Boston aspirants. Wyllie Porter star, helped the ball through the uprights from the 25-yard mark for the first score of the season.

The varsity's tally came after a hard drive from midfield, Coffin and Ford starting in the advance. Ford later carried the ball over for a touchdown.

Meacham, the big guard, was injured, and gave way to Holmes, who played well. Green, a new man, distinguished himself in the line work of the field. Britton and Kelly, both promising end men, were missing because of injuries.

Trainer Harry Tuthill started his training table in the mess hall and took fifty men of the squad with him.

George Felton Is Winner in First Billiard Battle

Boston won its first game in the Interstate Three-Cushion League.

George N. Felton was our representative and in his match with Henry Crede of Milwaukee, played at Littlefield's last night, the local entrant went over, 50-44.

Felton played superb billiards throughout and was in front from the start. A banner crowd viewed the contest.

Favreau Again Goes Over in Title Game

Young Arthur Favreau of Wellington, a student at Boston High School of Commerce, repeated his conquest of a year ago in the junior lawn tennis championship tournament by scoring in the finals over J. B. Fenno, Jr., after losing the first set.

Fenno, who is barely seventeen years old, will be ineligible for the 1916 tournament. He weighs more than 130 pounds, but never seems to tire on the courts and is destined to become one of the East's foremost players.

Harvard Veteran First In.

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 23.—James A. Tyng of Baltimore, Harvard's celebrated catcher over a quarter of a century ago, led the field at the end of the first section in the annual seniors' golf tournament over the Anawamis Club links. His card was 90—86—176.

LE GORE PULLS A RUN OF 60 YARDS

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 23.—Harry Le Gore, at full back on the Yale scrub eleven, scored against the varsity for the first time this season when he caught one of Otto Guernsey's punts and ran more than half the length of the field through the broken ranks of the regulars. The scrubs gained first down on several times, but repeatedly threatened the varsity goal.

The first team held on to second and third squads for ten minutes scrimmaging. Captain Wilson carried the ball across twice and Mal Scovill went over once. Guernsey lifted three field goals over the cross bar. Two of the varsity's touchdowns and one drop kick were made against the third eleven and one touchdown and a drop kick against the second team.

In order to gain expert advice we laid the case before an eminent boxing fan.

"Who," we asked, after explaining the details, "who, in your opinion, is legitimate world's bantamweight champion?"

Ruminating for fully one-tenth of a second, he flicked the ash from his cigar and replied:

"I should worry?"

THE AFTERMATH.

Sam Harris, manager of Kid Williams, has demanded that Mike Mc-Nulty, the St. Paul promoter, give Williams a return match with Ertle in the near future.

This may be Sport Food column, but that doesn't give the night gang a legal right to leave a lot of empty coffee cups on our desk.

Needham High Squad Showing Good Form

NEEDHAM, Sept. 23.—Coach Crossman is fast whipping the Needham High squad into shape and a strong eleven is assured. Only four members of last year's team are missing and Freeman, Ryan, Crisp, Whelton, Roper, Stanwood, Blades, Wye Richwager and Jacobs are already well advanced in their work. Also twenty new aspirants have joined the squad, while a schedule of fourteen games is being arranged.

Out of compliment to Captain Stanwood of Colby, the NEEDHAM High captain, Captain Stanwood of the local eleven, his youngest brother and Coach Crossman will have played with Colby for several seasons, will give the squad a day off Saturday as the Colby team attends the Harvard-Colby contest. Needham's schedule:

Sept. 25—Open.
Oct. 2—Belmont High at Newton.
Oct. 9—Belmont High at Needham.
Oct. 9—Open.
Oct. 12—Quincy High at Needham.
Oct. 16—Wayland High at Needham.

Nov. 25—Dedham High at Needham.

Dundee and Mandot Tonight.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Johnny Dundee and Joe Mandot will resume hostilities in a ten-round bout at Ebbetts Field tonight. These boys met twice before and each insists he won. They are in fine fettle for this engagement and some clever work is assured. In another match Frankie Callahan and Joe Azevedo will mingle, while the curtain-raiser will be between "Battling" Lahn and Georgie Thornton of Los Angeles.

Big Game on Russell Field.

Interest is keen in amateur circles in Saturday's baseball game between the St. John's Catholic Club nine of North Cambridge and St. Ann's Holy Name, champions of the Dorchester Catholic League, on Russell Field. Playing time is 3 o'clock.

College Football

FROM the showing already made by Captain Eddie Mahan, the Harvard leader is going to play the best game of his career this season. Mahan is in the best condition at present fit to go through a hard season on the gridiron. Realizing the importance of his being in the best possible shape for football, Captain Mahan began light training just as soon as he was through with baseball, last June.

* * *

BEFORE going to Red Top, where he was an instructor at a boy's camp, Captain Eddie visited Cal Ruff for two weeks and then spent a fortnight in Pennsylvania. During this time Mahan was ever thoughtful of the football season and did not lose an opportunity to get in a little practice with the pigskin. Once at Red Top, Mahan and Captain Wilson of Yale got down to real work and when the Crimson captain reported to Head Coach P. D. Haughton, ten days ago, he was ready for active football work.

* * *

MAHAN will make an ideal captain for Harvard. He is not the specie of athlete who needs to be worked with the utmost care, but one who can be sent into scrimmage day after day without fear of being overworked. Then, regardless of the fact that he is captain, Mahan will do as much work as any member of the squad, for he is one of the very few men connected with football who really loves to play the game.

* * *

ANOTHER reason why Mahan will be so valuable to Harvard, both as a captain and player, is that nothing worries him. He is the happy-go-lucky type of athlete so rare in the amateur ranks. Before the Yale game Mahan can be relied upon being as unconcerned and natural as ever.

* * *

BUILDING COMMISSIONER O'HEARN has already sanctioned the building of wooden stands at the north end of the Stadium. The stands will be higher than ever and it is expected that there will be accommodations for about 60,000 persons for the Yale game.

* * *

THE first Harvard varsity team at present is made up as follows: Soucy and Coolidge, ends; Parsons and Bigelow, tackles; Cowen and Duncan, guards; Wiggin, centre; Watson and Boles, quarterbacks; McKinlock, Rollins and Mahan, backs.

PHAIR VIEWS ON SPORTS

A TITLE, SO TO SPEAK.

There is much discussion, according to the papers, of the alleged transfer of the world's bantamweight boxing championship from one John Gutenko (alias Kid Williams) to one Johnny Ertle (alias Johnny Ertle).

The said John Gutenko is said to have committed a foul on the person of the said Johnny Ertle, the said foul having been committed in the fourth or fifth or sixth round (we forget which round it was), thereby handing, transferring and otherwise conveying the said world's bantamweight championship to the said Johnny Ertle.

In order to gain expert advice we laid the case before an eminent boxing fan.

"Who," we asked, after explaining the details, "who, in your opinion, is legitimate world's bantamweight champion?"

Ruminating for fully one-tenth of a second, he flicked the ash from his cigar and replied:

Y. M. C. A. College Has 47 Out for Football Team

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 23.—The squad reporting for the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College football team, which last year made such an enviable record for itself by wins over Holy Cross, Worcester Polytechnic, Massachusetts "Aggies," Norwich, Middlebury and Amherst, is steadily growing larger, the squad now numbering forty-seven men.

Among the latest additions to the team are Greim and Peters, two much-touted players from the Warrensburg Normal School team. They were induced to take up the course at Springfield by "Dutch" Miller of last year's squad.

The schedule for the year includes the following games:

October 2—Middlebury at Springfield.
October 9—Open.
October 16—Yale at New Haven.
October 23—Vermont at Springfield.
November 6—Amherst at Springfield.
November 13—Worcester "Aggies" at Springfield.
November 20—Army at West Point.
November 25—Tufts at Springfield.

Tigers at Work for Georgetown Battle

PRINCETON, Sept. 23.—No selections have yet been made for the team which will represent Princeton in Saturday's game with Georgetown, which will open the 1915 season here. A considerable amount of time was spent in an effort to brace the varsity line at the practice session. For thirty minutes at a stretch the scrub was allowed to keep the ball on the line and had an unlimited amount of downs to push it over the varsity goal.

Although enforced by several strong ineligibles, the scrub encountered difficulty in performing the feat after the first few attempts. With Gennert at centre, Halsey and Lowe at guards, and McLane and Latrobe at tackles, the varsity line withstood the shocks with great success.

The Tiger backfield is badly patched up as the result of examinations and illness. Dickerman, Tibbott, Law and Eberstadt have been unable to play this week. Sea moved back from the end position, showed up well and will probably start against Georgetown. Moore and Driggs are his best halfback material, while Glick or Ames will probably run the team.

Lieut. Smith at Bowdoin.

Lieutenant Rodney Smith of Fort William has joined Bowdoin's coaching staff. He played at West Point for four years. A powerful backfield prospect at Bowdoin is John Kern of Portland. He weighs 230 pounds.

DEAN ACADEMY SCHEDULE OUT

Coach Dan Sullivan of Dean Academy has started practice with a squad of fifty odd candidates. The only members of last year's team returning are Captain Harris of Washington; Keefe, halfback, of Watertown; Munroe, tackle, of Auburn, N. Y., and Stone, guard, of Fanueil.

Among the last appearing candidates are Markelovitch of Fall River High, Campbell of New York city High, Flaherty of Washington Business High, Miller of Hartford High, Fletcher, captain, of Erie Championship High, Parks of Belmont High, and Woodman of Danvers High. The schedule:

Sept. 28—Yale Seconds at Franklin.
Oct. 2—Boston Latin at Franklin.
Oct. 6—Open.
Oct. 9—Harvard Seconds at Franklin.
Oct. 13—Open.
Oct. 16—Harvard Seconds at Franklin.
Oct. 23—Cushing Academy at Ashburnham.
Oct. 30—Harvard College Freshmen at Cambridge.
Nov. 6—Dartmouth Freshmen at Franklin.
Nov. 13—University of Pennsylvania Freshmen at Philadelphia.

Capt. Skayhan Loyal to McCabe's Eleven

A pleasant surprise was sprung at the practice of Boston College High when "Billy" Skayhan, captain-elect of the team, walked on the field in football togs. It was reported he had gone to Lehigh, but claims he will remain loyal to B. C. H. Skayhan is rated one of the best fullbacks in scholastic circles.

The practice was a long, stiff one. Coach McCabe is working his squad hard every day despite the fact that the first game will not be played until October 2. He has the making of a good team, but most of his material is green, and consequently needs plenty of practice.

Linehan Back with Rindge.

Football practice has started at Rindge Tech and Charley Linehan is back on the Rindge team to play its first game with Huntington School next Thursday. Manager Walter Cone has issued the corrected schedule, as follows:

Sept. 24, Huntington School at Cambridge; Oct. 2, Dean Academy second at Franklin; Oct. 7, pending; Oct. 9, Dean Academy at Franklin; Oct. 14, Harvard Seconds at Cambridge; Dorchester at Dorchester; Oct. 20, Cambridge Latin at Cambridge; Nov. 4, Boston Latin at Cambridge; Nov. 11, pending; Nov. 25, Somerville at Cambridge.

Ballin Joins Penn's Coaches.

Ballin, Princeton's All-America tackle, is at Pennsylvania. No cause for worry at Dartmouth and Princeton as he is ineligible to play. Ballin's services as assistant coach will be invaluable to the Red and Blue, however.

BRICKLEY SHOE IN BIG DEMAND

The Brickley Model, the football boot which Charley Brickley, Harvard's former star gridironer invented, is being used in practically every college of prominence in the country.

Brickley, in his freshman year, conceived the idea of a perfect "drop-kicking" shoe which he designed and which was later patented.

"Surefoot" used the boot to such startling results that soon the sporting firm in Cambridge which handled it was deluged with orders. Hobey Baker, the former Princeton star, was the first of the outside collegians to make use of the shoe.

Exeter, Andover, St. Mark's and other preparatory schools have used the boots by the dozen and their graduated entering with the big colleges teams still make the "Model" their piece de resistance when booting the ball over the bars.

Pipal, the Occidental College coach who is assisting in developing Harvard's forward passmen, is to take a dozen pairs back to the Coast when he leaves late this week.

Penn State, where Brickley coached last month, and Johns Hopkins, where he is at present located, have already written to Cambridge seeking the Brickley footwear.

The University of Virginia, one of Harvard's opponents this Fall, has used the Brickley Model already during two seasons.

Finals Reached in Boston A. A. Tourney

Ralph Hornblower and A. Geiger, Jr., are the finalists in the championship class in the annual golf tournament of the Boston A. A. going on the Wollaston links. In the semi-finals Hornblower defeated F. B. Cutler, 4 and 2, while Geiger downed T. S. Dee, 6 and 5.

R. H. Pierce and C. D. Wadsworth are left in the second division; W. G. Kendall and L. B. Harding, Jr., are the survivors in the third division, while H. M. Smith placed the championship in the fourth division to his credit by winning in the finals from T. F. Stoddard, 1 up, in 19 holes.

Quigley Is in Hospital.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—After a blackboard talk in the morning, the Pennsylvania coaches gave the squad a red-hot workout at Franklin Field. "Bill" Quigley, the former Exeter fullback, who has been working up to great form, is laid up with water on the knee and may not play all Fall.

Mr. Reader: I consider my Boston cutting force the greatest in the country. In order to keep them busy the three months which have just passed, I have cut up three thousand overcoats. Some of the cloths came from the high-priced stock of David Low, of Hartford, Conn., who charged as high as $50.00 for an overcoat. More of the stock came from a fire of one of the manufacturers located in Malden, Mass., whose specialty was overcoatings. There was about one thousand yards of these goods, after sponging and refinishing, that were as good as the day they left the Rhode Island woolen company. These cloths were used to put into coats selling around $20.00. Macdonald's intelligence and tailoring as good as might be put into a $20.00 overcoat. No overhead charge on account of my policy of keeping my help going during the dull season. VACCARI SCORES AS 'LUCIA' AT OPERA HOUSE

The Boston Opera House rang with beautiful harmonies and sweet melodies of Donizetti when "Lucia" was sung last evening by the San Carlo Opera Company. Not only did the audience appear satisfied but at times its admiration ran into enthusiasm.

Miss Edvige Vaccari scored a great success in the title role. She sang the mad scene with extreme pathos and sweetness. Especially beautiful were her duets with Millo Picco, who sang the part of Henry, her brother. Vaccari made a physically attractive Lucia. In the mad scene she was convincing; there was a reason for the chorus shaking its head dubiously, sadly. She took her trills with ease. The staccato notes were clean. There were no ragged edges.

Mr. Picco was excellent as Henry. He used his voice to good advantage as a singer of experience.

Emmanuel Salazar appeared as Edgar. He was effective in sustained song and his voice gave pleasure in its robustness.

The role of Edgar was sung with feeling by Emanuel Salazar. Pietro De Biasi as the chaplain added much to a harmonious whole, and each of the minor characters was ably rendered.

The operas this evening will be "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci."

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks ruled lowed in the last hour, but ranged then above their low for the day. Motor stocks were weak as a group. General Motor was off 10½. Studebaker ⅝, Maxwell 1¼ and Willys Overland 2. Motors had made slight recovery; most other issues were above their lowest.

At 2 1-5 declines in New York included, beside the above, Allis-Chalmers ⅝, American Can ⅝, American Sugar 1⅝, U. S. Steel ⅝, Car & Foundry ⅛, Bethlehem 4¼, Crucible ⅝, General Electric 1⅜, Goodrich ¼, N. Y. Air Brake ⅝, Pressed Steel ⅝, Westinghouse ⅝, Anaconda ⅝, Chino ¼, New Haven ⅛, Northern Pacific ⅜, Among gains were American Smelting ⅝, Utah Copper ¼, American Loco. 1, American Woolen common ⅝, Baldwin ¼, Colorado Fuel ⅛, American Petroleum 1, Republic Steel ¼, Rock Island ⅛, Chesapeake & Ohio ¼, N. Y. Central ⅝, Reading ⅝ and Southern Pacific ⅛.

In Boston losses included: Tamarack 1, Granby 1¼, Copper Range ⅝, Butte & Superior ½, American Zinc ⅝, New Haven ½, Boston Elevated ⅛, and Alaska Gold ⅝. American Woolen preferred was up ¼.

SPECIALTIES NOT SO STRONG.

In New York stocks averaged higher at the start, but the list soon weakened. There was general profit taking to withstand and uncertainty as to the foreign loan situation was another adverse factor. Traders were expectant this morning of the foreign loan, but were disappointed. Rumors as to hitches were rife. Sterling exchange quotations at the opening were purely nominal. There is great uncertainty as to the loan situation. It is said the Anglo-French representatives now want to borrow a billion dollars and that American bankers do not favor foreign credits beyond half that amount. There is, it is rumored, disagreement as to minor details. The envoys, it is intimated do not appreciate the difficulties attendant upon popular subscription in a country of such area and diversified interests that General Winfield Scott Hancock, when a Presidential candidate, was prompted to say "the tariff is a local issue."

Among traders it was generally held a reaction is due. Motor and war order stocks were active issues, but were affected by the declines in Steels. Some foreign selling was another influence. The idle car surplus in this country and Canada decreased 14,705 cars in August. The market was active, but less so than yesterday. The Bank of England's statement was the best for weeks. Its proportion of reserve to liabilities is 57 per cent, compared with 53.33 a week ago.

LITTLE CHANGE HERE.

The Boston market showed little change in any respect today. It opened dull and narrow. Slight interest was shown in local issues whether of copper, zinc or other class. During the morning American Woolen common was strong. By afternoon it had lost its gain. It is reported that copper metal sales are of considerable volume and that large producers are holding firm for 18 cents a pound. They express more foreign business when the foreign loan is negotiated. Lead and spelter are said to be in demand in Europe, but lopsided prices do not sustain the statement. In London spot copper was off 10s., futures 15s. and electrolytic was unchanged. Lead was 2s. 6d. higher and spelter was unchanged.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE;
OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

Significance of Primary Election in Massachusetts

IN the primaries, on Tuesday, the Republican reactionary machine, "the old gang," as Charles Sumner Bird calls it, won a signal triumph in the nomination of Mr. McCall and Mr. Coolidge.

Last year the organization ticket was beaten in the primaries with the exception of Mr. McCall. At the polls Mr. McCall was defeated, and the anti-Republican machine candidates were elected. The success of the Republican organization therefore is not significant of victory, but it IS significant of a very important fact concerning the present condition of the Republican party. It DOES signify that the "old guard," as Mr. Cushing calls them, or "the old gang," as Mr. Bird calls them, are still in triumphant control.

They are the same influences, the same interests and the same men whose control of the Republican party in recent years caused it not only to be defeated at the last national election, but to lose every Sta[illegible]nion except the three smallest Commonwealths—a humiliation and disaster without parallel in the history of the country—and caused it to remain out of power in Massachusetts for five successive years, a condition unprecedented in the history of Massachusetts.

These same men, representing the same old influences, are still clinging blindly to their power without changing their methods, without changing their policies and without even making a PROMISE of reform. Nowhere in the world, probably, is there such a record of utter defiance of the public opinions of the deliberate recorded judgment of the vast majority of the people than the history of the little group which controls the Republican organization and which proposes to go grimly on, accepting defeat, if necessary, in the blind hope of accidental victory with their old weapons and old tactics.

Mr. Cushing had an instinctive premonition of his defeat at the hands of the Republican machine as far back as February last, when he made the following public statement:

> "On the evidence which has so far appeared it seems clear that the 'old guard' is strongly opposed to my candidacy; the press seems pretty unanimously against me; all the Republican leaders who have so far publicly declared themselves are against me; Senator Crane has got Berkshire County tied up tight in opposition to me; there is evidence that representatives of the United Shoe Machinery Company and other large interests are organizing against me, and I am informed that the favorable sentiment toward me in the Legislature will soon begin to show a change as a result of the pressure that will be brought to bear.
>
> "I am learning that the leaders of the Republican party and I belong politically to different generations. THEY BELONG TO A GENERATION OF POLITICAL ARISTOCRACY, WHERE THE CHOSEN FEW ARE CALLED AND IN WHICH ORDERS ARE GIVEN TO SUBORDINATES IN A MACHINE KEPT IN RUNNING ORDER BY A PATRONAGE, POLITICAL AND COMMERCIAL."

It would be impossible to find among the men who have public records two men more reactionary and more unqualified to meet the conditions which will confront the people of Massachusetts next year than Mr. McCall and Mr. Coolidge. Mr. McCall's last public record was made in Congress. While a member of Congress he was one of the seven lone men in that body of four hundred to oppose President Roosevelt's great struggle to control the railroads of the country. So obsessed was Mr. McCall in his belief in the right of the railroads to do as they please that he stood out against President Roosevelt, the greatest leader of his party in the present generation, who was trying to redeem the Republican party and make it again the party of Lincoln.

We have unsettled railroad problems to meet this coming year. We shall be obliged to meet constant demands for the increase in rates and fares. And every such an increase means a like increase in the cost of living.

Every day there is being revealed new evidence of corruption and waste on the part of these public service corporations, and the people every day are being asked to submit to some new increase of charges against themselves to make good all this criminal loss. Even on the very day before the primaries a casual investigation in New Hampshire revealed thousands and thousands of dollars expended by the Boston & Maine for which the vouchers could show no proper reason, while on the same day the Boston & Maine is proposing to increase its charges for milk, while the milk contractors are announcing that they will increase the price of milk to the consumer if the railroad charges for carrying milk go up.

The railroads today are fighting for the recognition of the right to raise their rates and car fares upon the basis of what is called the "unearned increment." During the last moments of the Massachusetts Legislature this year the New Haven Railroad bill was amended so as to recognize this alleged right, which, if recognized, would probably allow the railroads to raise their charges to the American people by more than seven hundred thousand dollars a year. Cunningly, they sought to push the nose of this wedge into Massachusetts, BUT GOVERNOR WALSH STOPPED THEM AT THE THRESHOLD WITH A VETO OF THE RAILROAD BILL WHICH THE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS WELL REMEMBER. WOULD MR. McCALL HAVE VETOED THAT BILL? Do the people of Massachusetts want Mr. McCall in the highest place of power during a year with such questions pressing upon the Commonwealth today?

The nomination of Mr. Calvin Coolidge is another example of the unregenerate, blind, obstinate determination of "the old gang" to run things just as they please in this State, or not to allow the Republican party to run them at all. Mr. Coolidge was last year president of the Senate. It was absolutely the worst Senate known in the history of the Commonwealth. There is not an intelligent man who studied the rollcalls of that body last year who will not admit that this is a mild statement. The conduct of that body, under the leadership of Mr. Coolidge, was almost treasonable. It certainly was a violation of the spirit of our laws and of our constitutional rights.

Several years ago, in order to avoid the passage of the genuine Initiative and Referendum law, the Legislature passed what they called a public opinion bill, which enables the people of any legislative district to have placed upon the ballot the question whether or not the voters of that district want their representative to vote for a certain policy, and thereupon the voters vote "Yes" or "No." Under that law, in many of the districts, the question was submitted to the voters whether they wanted their representative to vote for the Initiative and Referendum, and in every district, as always, whenever that question is submitted to the people in this State or in any other State, they voted "YES." By an audacious legislative trick Mr. Coolidge, as President of the Senate, in conjunction with the Republican organization, prevented a roll call on the question of the Initiative and Referendum SO THAT THE PEOPLE OF THOSE DISTRICTS WHICH VOTED IN FAVOR OF THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM ARE NOT ABLE TODAY TO KNOW WHETHER THEIR REPRESENTATIVES OBEYED THEM OR BETRAYED THEM.

In the long roster of reforms to which Progressive Republicanism and Progressive Democracy have been committed in the last decade and which Germany adopted twenty years ago for the amelioration of her people and to improve their efficiency, Mr. Coolidge has always stood opposed.

Now why does this "old gang" stand pat in the face of the verdict of the people, in the face of defeat so overwhelming and disgraceful. We answer the question by quoting again Mr. Cushing, Mr. McCall's defeated opponent. It is, as Mr. Cushing says, because > "They belong to a generation of political aristocracy, where the chosen few are called and in which orders are given to subordinates in a machine kept in running order by a patronage, political and commercial."

Nothing is more true in the world than this statement. This "old gang" cannot be progressive, because they would immediately cease to have ANY influence the moment they became progressive. Their WHOLE power lies in the fact that they control a "MACHINE KEPT IN RUNNING ORDER BY PATRONAGE, POLITICAL AND COMMERCIAL." By COMMERCIAL patronage they live; without it they would die politically. The source of their power lies in the support of the special interests, those who want to control the government for the privileges they can get and the money they can get out of these privileges.

This old guard must have an angel. They cannot walk alone. This year, as Mr. Cushing says, it is the United Shoe Machinery men and their allies who have not only syndicated the Republican organization, but who are trying to syndicate the National Republican party for their candidate for President—John W. Weeks.

Those who in former years have voted the Republican ticket, who believe that the Republican party has been a great instrument of good for the country, who want to see it live and prosper, must know that the only way to resuscitate that party is to exorcise it of these reactionary men and the interests which they secretly represent. They must also know that the only way they can exorcise it of these fatal parasites is by defeating the Republican party whenever it is apparent that they control it; by defeating it until the blind tools of these men wake up and say: "We want to win once in a while and we cannot win with such an incubus."

Very few men in the Republican party get any personal advantage out of the reactionary control of their party. They simply follow their party right or wrong, from habit and lack of perspicuity. But constant defeat will wake them up to the rescue of the Republican party or to its destruction, and, in either case, to the great advantage of the country.

If this "old gang" should win this election, they will send their delegates to the next National Convention, ostensibly to nominate Mr. Weeks, but really to play for strategic position in which to control the nomination of the next Republican candidate for President and to see that he is one of their own kind—"safe and sane" for "THE INTERESTS."

Beware of the too inquisitive person.

There are people who get their greatest enjoyment from being able to give information which someone regards as a secret. That which is most intimate makes the best story to tell. The more sensational it is, the more it is relished, and the greater the satisfaction of the gossip monger.

It is poor policy to tell anyone the things you do not want known.

Letters from American Readers

FOOLED BY ENGLAND

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I have noted the many letters, editorials, etc., on England and the cotton situation, and it is very surprising to me that not one has touched on the most important reason for this great American product being declared contraband.

England and the allies, as we all know, use a great deal of cotton. The Dardanelles is closed, thereby making it impossible for them to obtain it from Egypt. The thing to do is to buy it from us. England, with her trickery, declares cotton a contraband, which causes the price to decrease as it did last year. The United States, of course, protests. And then after English buyers have obtained their fill, she harkens to our plea and makes a "grand-stand play" by striking cotton off the list again.

The issue of this war is Great Britain's marinesim versus Germany's militarism, and of the two evils the latter is the one we ought to choose.

Great Britain has fooled the public enough and the quicker we come to our senses the better it will be for us, therefore, wake up, in its true light, and then act are it will be too late.

GEORGE WEINSTEN.

URGES WORLD-WIDE PEACE

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—The people of this nation ought to cheer and encourage you in the noble work you have done in helping to bring peace to this great and glorious nation, the United States of America. They should encourage you to bring peace to the whole world. There are many who are always shouting "War! War! War!" but if the President should declare war and order them out to fight for him, their native and their flag, they would make many strange excuses, such as "We are too old," or "We cannot be spared from our parents or families."

Let those who want war go where there is war, and leave alone a peaceful, happy country, which is not harming any other nation. Yours truly,

T. T.

THE BOSTON FLOATING HOSPITAL

Boston, Sept. 20, 1915.

Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen—I want to tell you how much we appreciate the editorial notice which you gave the Floating Hospital a few days since.

Considering that our season was just ending, it was quite remarkable to note the number of responses which could be directly traced to your helpful argument in favor of our work. Several people called at this office and left sums of money, while others wrote and either attached their money to the addressed part of the editorial or else commented on it in their enclosure. I have heard men connected with other newspapers speak very highly of the tone of your editorial, and I myself am loud in my praise of it, as it is so very much in accord with my own views, so often expressed, wherein I have besought people to be painstaking and careful as to where they gave cash.

With renewed thanks for your good-will toward our institution, not only in this instance of the editorial, but at frequent other times in the past, I am,

Very truly yours,

G. Loring Briggs

Automobiles and "Movies" Broaden Life

One Bears One Into All the Earth, the Other Bears All the Earth to Man

By Dr. Charles F. Thwing

President Western Reserve University

THE automobile and the moving picture, two of the newest material forces in American life, so unlike in themselves, are yet having a similarly tremendous effect on American character.

They represent enlargement of vision, the receiving of new impressions, the enjoyment of unique experiences.

They lessen provincialism and localism in knowledge, feeling and appreciation. They help to make a large citizenship.

The automobile bears one into parts of the world where the railroad cannot easily penetrate, and opens converts of nature, numerous and entrancing. The result is, the enlargement of seeing and of all the forces of observation.

A similar effect is wrought by the moving picture. If the automobile bears one into all the earth, the moving picture bears all the earth to man. He sees, even if he does not feel, and sometimes he feels, all that belongs to man.

Human experiences of war and peace, of wealth and penury, of integrity and intrigue, of statecraft and handicraft become his.

These are good results, but there are also possible dangers. We must see to it that sensation and sentiment do not kill thought. In other words, that insight is not partially sacrificed to sight.

Absorbed in seeing, the mind sometimes refuses to think.

The reasoning faculty is subordinated to the sense of vision, the outer sensation to the judgment.

Our fathers saw little; they thought much. They did not go out unto all the world; neither did all the world come in unto them. They were not the creatures of sensations, but their feelings ran deep.

Their eyes were not fixed upon the nearest electric sign, but their eyes did see the stars. They were sober in their reflections, simple in their tastes; logical, even if narrow, in their reasoning.

If they saw few visions of the enchantments of the outer world, their souls were touched and moved with the radiances of celestial spheres. Some of their children are becoming frivolous and unreflective, luxurious in taste, elaborate in their material lives and superficial in their beliefs and interpretations.

The pendulum ever swings between the material and the spiritual; between the outer sense and the inner feeling. But at the present moment there is a peril that these two new universal forces are making the people too dependent on the visible and the tangible.

They have added inestimably to the enjoyment of the many and they have both broadened life, but they must not wean us from the fundamental things. We are soon to celebrate as a nation the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Mayflower, a little craft which bore our Pilgrim fathers into the simple church-founding, Bible-reading, God-worshipping life.

In-Shoots

When a woman is in love the man with a fried egg face is as handsome as Apollo in her eyes.

Success consists mainly in doing the things that can't be done.

Jitney nickels often outrun taxi dollars.

Better talk sheer nonsense than tell your troubles.

When silence is approbation we are never aware of the fact.

The wise financier does not use the same kind of bait for every fish.

Shop talk invariably bores the shoplens.

Egotism is often the first lap in the direction of the daffy house.

Way twins ounts grafters she'll never be a republic like ours.
